Mom says son with AIDS virus belongs in school

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — A 7-year-old AIDS victim kept away from other school children at his mother's request will sit among them someday, Tammie Robertson, 28, said Tuesday.

Her son, Jason Robertson, is the lone student in a trailer that opened Nov. 16 as when Allen's AIDS victims, Jason, a hemophiliac with AIDS-related complex, wants to be with other children, Mrs. Robertson said.

Jason was disappointed Tuesday that his isolation will continue while in Belleville a 6-year-old boy with AIDS will join students at Jefferson School on Dec. 17. The Belleville School District 118 Board of Education took legal action Sept. 23 to keep the 6-year-old out of school, but two experts on infectious diseases told federal Judge James L. Foreman the boy was not a danger. The board voted unanimously Dec. 7 to allow attendance, district Superintendent Joe Cipri said Tuesday.

"Jason's mad at me," Mrs. Robertson said. "He said, 'Now I don't think that's fair.' He said, 'Mom, do I still have to stay in the trailer?' His reaction really surprised me. I just didn't think he would have that strong a reaction to it. I thought he loved the trailer."

Jason should be in a classroom with other students, Mrs. Robertson said.

"I would love to have Jason in a regular school. He's lonely. Just last week he was talking about a Christmas party at school. He said, 'How can I have a party with just me?' Sure, I want him in a regular classroom," Mrs. Robertson said.

The decision in Belleville, however, does not mean she has changed her mind about the segregated classroom for her son.

"I'm going to leave things as they are right now. It's like I said from the beginning, I'm not going to force anything," Mrs. Robertson said.

Granite City School District 9 could be legally forced to have Jason among the other children, but she said district parents are not ready for it. She said that as more information about AIDS becomes available, parents will understand there is no need to separate Jason from other students.

"I hope other parents see that I'm not lying when I say Jason is no danger to them," Mrs. Robertson said.

At the end of the school year, Jason's classroom situation will be re-evaluated, Mrs. Robertson said. If it is working for her son, she said, reviews will continue.

Cipri said the District 118 Board of Education considered alternative education approaches for the Belleville boy, including sending him to the classroom in Granite City, but the boy's mother insisted that he be placed in a regular classroom. When the district unsuccessfully sought legal cases that would have supported keeping the boy out of school, the board decided to drop the suit, Cipri said.

"There was no legal precedent for us to fortify our stand," Cipri said.

At the request of the Belleville boy's mother, her name and his are not being made public.

Indiana man reunited with 'best friend'

By Gary King
Staff writer

MADISON — The blonde cocker spaniel's tail wagged furiously as its owner approached. The owner fought back tears.

It was the reunion of a man and his best friend. The man, Roy Allen, 27, Terre Haute, Ind., had not seen his dog, Taffy, since Nov. 11 when Allen's tractor trailer loaded with peanut butter overflowed on Illinois 203 some 200 yards south of Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza in Madison.

After the collision, Allen spent the day searching for Taffy.

"I never thought I was going to see her again," Allen said.

He was wrong.

Workers at an auto upholstery shop behind Gateway Plaza noticed a dog that fit the description of Allen's pet blonde cocker spaniel with one eye and a chain around its neck — with a group of cats Dec. 2.

Bob Murphy, owner of the upholstery shop, said he saw Allen's dog while attempting to feed a group of cats that morning. Murphy said he routinely feeds some stray cats near the truck stop.

Danny Worden and Jimmy Russell, workers at the upholstery shop, corralled Taffy after a prolonged struggle.

"It took them about an hour and a half to capture her," Murphy said. "We had never seen her before that morning, so it (Taffy) had been hiding out somewhere. The guys just talked to it, and finally they got it to come inside the shop here."

Murphy said the dog was cold, wet and shaking when the group of workers found it.

"Apparently, since we hadn't seen it before, it must have been hiding out in the landfill behind us here," Murphy said.

The workers reached Allen at a telephone number they saw in the Nov. 12 edition of the Press-Record/Journal. Allen picked up the dog at 9:30 a.m. Dec. 3 and gave the upholstery shop workers a $20 reward for locating his pet.

"She smelled pretty bad, but she was in very good spirits," Allen said. "I was real happy to see her again. I had just told my mom a couple of days ago that I wouldn't ever see Taffy again, so I was real surprised when they called me and said they had found her."

Murphy said the dog is in good health.

Endorsements, threat, shoving at Dem meeting

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — The tension of endorsement night for Madison County Democrats is believed to be the cause of a threat and a physical exchange involving House Majority Leader Jim McPike, D-Alton; Madison County Recorder of Deeds Rink Lucas, an East Alton attorney, Thomas Lakin; and Granite City 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney.

The exchange took place at Charlie's Restaurant about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday outside the room where the Madison County Democratic Party Central Committee met in closed session to discuss endorsements for county-wide offices.

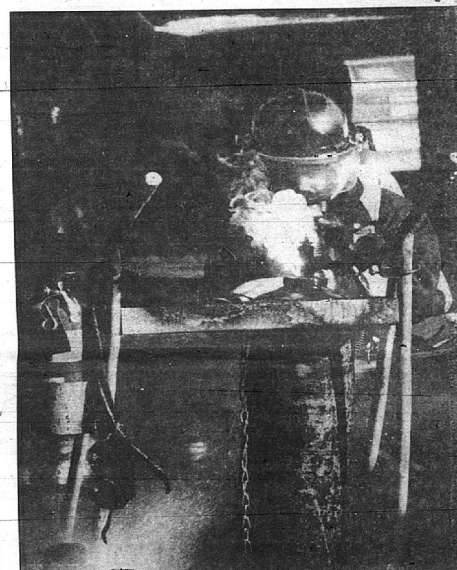

Lucas approached a table where McPike, Lakin and Partney were seated. Partney said Lucas "politically threatened" McPike and Lakin responded by asking Lucas to leave. Partney said Lucas attacked Lakin, knocking over the table and pushing Lakin against the wall.

The exchange, in view of restaurant patrons, ended with Partney pulling Lucas off Lakin. Lucas left the restaurant and could not be reached for comment.

McPike said he supported Dan Donohoo, a Madison County Board member from Alton who was endorsed last night over Lucas.

"I guess he (Lucas) blamed me," McPike said.

NO THREAT TO STORE: Granite City firefighter Vince Maresca uses a hose to cool down a burning acetylene tank at the rear of the K mart store on Nameoki Road. The tank caught fire after being used to cut a muffler off a car in the store's car repair area. Firefighters removed the tank from the area, uncoupled it from an oxygen tank, and kept it cool while the gas burned off. Minor damage was caused to the car being worked on.

Basic cable TV rates to increase by $2.50

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — A $2.50 increase in basic cable television rates for local viewers was announced at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Cencom Cable Television's current rates for basic service in the Granite City area are $10.95 per month, which will go up to $13.45 on Jan. 1.

The local senior citizen discount will remain at $2.

Subscribers pay extra for premium channels, such as HBO.

The Movie Channel and Showtime, in addition to the basic rate.

Under the new rate schedule, the monthly fee for the Disney Channel will cost $7.95, a reduction of $2, according to Dave Troxel, Cencom of Illinois general manager.

Cencom's basic monthly rate still remains one of the lowest in the Metro East Area, Troxel said.

He compared basic fees charged by TCI-Alton at $15.75.

Allen says he's picked on by Granite City's top Dems

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — State's Attorney Dick Allen said Tuesday that he's being picked on because he's supporting Madison County Auditor Pete Fields for Congress.

Allen's comments resulted when he learned Rich Schneider, chairman of the Granite City Township Democratic precinct committee, said a vote of the committeemen for Allen was not unanimous and not supposed to be public. Allen said the vote was unanimous and no one said it couldn't be revealed.

Competing against Allen for state's attorney in the Democratic primary is Bill Haine, who is an Alton attorney and Madison County Board member.

As opponents to his re-election, Allen named Granite City Street Superintendent Mac Warfield and Schneider. Warfield heads the county's Democratic Central Committee, which endorsed St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello for Congress.

Allen said Warfield struck a deal to support Haine for state's attorney. In exchange for the support, Allen said, Democrats in Alton are supposed to back Granite City 4th Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak for county auditor. Perjak is Warfield ally.

"I'm for Pete Fields and I'm being punished," Allen said. "Mac Warfield has a deal made with Haine in Alton whereby he supports Haine and they (Alton Democrats) support him for county chairman ... and they take Sharon (Perjak) up north for auditor."

Dick Allen
Says deal was struck

Perjak is running in the Democratic primary for county auditor against Madison Treasurer Fred Bathon, who is also the county's assistant auditor. Fields by law cannot run for the auditor post because he is running for Congress, Perjak said.

Wednesday she has been in Wood River and Alton to seek support and if she has any there she got it without Warfield's help.

"If that deal is cut, they didn't cut it with me," Perjak said. "Mac has purposely not told anybody that we were even for me, even though we're friends."

Warfield denied Allen's allegation Wednesday. Warfield said he had not given his support to anyone.

"That's Mr. Allen talking, not me," Warfield said. "I have not committed to anybody."

Haine said Wednesday that he has not been involved in any deals.

"Dick's got to keep his deals straight. Last month he said I had a deal with Don Weber (a Republican state's attorney contender)," Haine said. "The deal king in Madison County is Dick Allen ... It's all pure bunk, which is Dick's stock in trade."

Haine said Allen is trying to "stir up trouble" because Allen has nothing to offer the Democratic Party.

Allen said Schneider is incorrect to say Granite City Township precinct committeemen did not unanimously support Allen in a vote taken Dec. 3. Out of 25 precinct committeemen, 24 supported Allen, none opposed him and six abstained.

Under Robert's Rules of Order, a meeting manual used by the organization, if there is no opposition when a vote is taken, the measure is recorded as unanimous, Allen said.

In a Dec. 4 press release from Allen on state's attorney letterhead, it is stated: "Of the 28 committeemen in attendance, Allen was supported in a motion on a unanimous vote."

Allen said he did not know that he was supposed to keep the outcome of the vote a secret. Debbie Salitch, secretary of the committeemen organization, said the information in the release was checked with her prior to its mailing. She said the outcome of the vote was not stipulated as being secret.

Council OKs stricter meeting standards

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Aldermen will be subject to stricter meeting rules as a result of an ordinance passed by the City Council on Dec. 1.

But the ordinance was not nearly as restrictive as one presented earlier to the council.

The ordinance generally gives the council's standing committees more power to bring issues before the council. A two-thirds majority of the council will be needed in most cases to suspend the new rules in order for issues to be brought before the council by individual aldermen and citizens.

"You let your members decide whether they want you to talk," said City Attorney Mark Goldenberg, responding to some alder-men's concern about the new rules possibly limiting debate.

A breach of the new rules by an alderman or citizen will be judged out of order, said Goldenberg.

Committee chairmen will now be given sole authority to bring legislation before the council for a vote.

No item will be allowed on the prepared meeting agenda unless it is handed in at the city clerk's office before 5 p.m. on Thursdays before the council meetings, which are normally on Tuesdays.

If a committee chairman refuses to bring a measure to the council floor after it is referred to the committee, another alderman can do so with a two-thirds council majority.

on it!

NEAL MILLER
SENIOR V.P.

Q: I have a situation where I need some extra cash to cover an unexpected emergency. A friend said perhaps the best way to get this extra money would be to borrow against the money in my bank savings account. Can this be done? What are the advantages as opposed to just withdrawing the money?

A: Yes. You can borrow against your savings account whether it is a passbook account or in a certificate of deposit. A major advantage is interest rates are generally low in such transactions, usually a point or two above the interest you earn on the account. If your money is in a certificate of deposit, to withdraw the money, you would incur a penalty. It would be wiser to borrow against the CD rather than withdraw the money. Also, the loan interest is deductible if your tax return is itemized. Generally speaking, the rules governing such loans stipulate you may not borrow a greater sum than is in the account. The account, of course, becomes security for the loan. The transaction is usually handled as with any other secured loan. Whether or not this method of borrowing is to your advantage depends upon your situation. So, it's a good idea to talk over the options with your banker.

Fields files for office

Madison County Auditor Pete Fields on Dec. 7 filed his petition for the Democratic nomination for Congress in Illinois' 21st Congressional District.

"I am running for Congress because I believe I can make a difference both for our district and nation," Fields said. "Saying that 1988 is a watershed year in which voters will select both a new president and new congressman, Fields added that the people of Southwestern Illinois will have the opportunity to help shape a new future."

"The people of my region deserve a choice in 1988," Fields said, "a choice between the policies of the past or the politics of independence and the future."

The issues in this election are clear, Fields said. He asked:

1) "Which candidate will bring the highest level of character and integrity to the office?"

2) "Which candidate brings the fiscal management skills necessary to help balance the federal budget?"

3) "Which candidate has the best demonstrated record of holding the line on taxes, while continuing to provide the basic services that Americans are entitled to?"

"My campaign will focus on these issues," Fields said. "I intend to be a congressman who lights for the programs we value. My experience as county auditor has given me the background and skills necessary to support laws that are just and proper, and to oppose bills that are wasteful and morally wrong."

Fields said education, jobs, farm support, the defense budget, and aid to the Contras are areas of greatest concern to him. He opposes Contra aid.

"Our government can no longer build weapons," he said, "while sacrificing the education of our children."

"Our government cannot give tax breaks to the rich, while cutting help to steelworkers and farmers."

"And our government cannot spend endlessly, as though our pockets are bottomless," Fields said.

Fields will be opposed in the primary by St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello and Mike Mansfield, chief legislative aide to the district's retiring representative, Mel Price, D-Belleview.

Fields, 42, was born in Granite City and raised in Venice. He is married to the former Gloria Ponce and has two sons, Matthew 17, and Eric, 16. Their dog's name is Brei.

Santa breakfast Saturday

MITCHELL — Chouteau Township will host "Breakfast with Santa" on Saturday, Dec. 12, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the township hall, 697 N. Thorngate Drive.

The annual event is open to children of Chouteau Township residents only, according to a township spokesman.

As the young people arrive they will be served orange juice, doughnuts and milk, to be followed by a visit with Santa.

Joey James will provide entertainment during the morning event and each child will be given a special treat before leaving.

BACK TRACKING

There is probably nothing more disabling than back pain. Very few people, however, realize that a fair percentage of back problems are literally rooted in foot problems. Back problems are related to the feet because it is the foot's job to absorb the stress of movement, to adapt to the terrain, to function in shoes, and to compensate for any weakness in the spine. Though it probably does not make sense to treat a spinal condition without considering the foot, many doctors do not include a foot exam in the evaluation of a back problem. Whether the treatment for back pain is a muscle relaxant, a back brace, physical therapy, massage, or spinal manipulation, the results will not be permanent unless any corresponding imbalance in the foot is corrected.

Have your feet checked regularly by a specialist and care for them properly with basic hygiene techniques. Foot checkups can help prevent problems that can appear in other parts of the body, as in the back, and play a key role in the early diagnosis of many illnesses including diabetes. Contact your office or call 876-5000 for your family foot care. X-ray facilities are available in the office. Foot and leg facilities, including pulled tendons, sprains, bunions, corns, calluses, and sports injuries, are treated. Office hours by appointment. Tel. 877-6025. Post 307 continues support of OATH

Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 has continued its philanthropic history with a donation of $4,200 to the Organization for the Advancement of the Handicapped (OATH) Inc. The money, from the post's bingo fund, will be used to build a roof on the organization's commercial laundry expansion. This latest donation continued the Post 307 support of OATH. Post 307 purchased the first commercial laundry machine, costing more than $5,000, for OATH four years ago. That generosity led to the need to expand the laundry facility and, thus, the need for the roof.

There also is another link between the Venice-Madison post and OATH. Leo Schermer, president of the board of directors of OATH, is a member of Post 307, as is Jim Malherk, an OATH volunteer worker.

Post 307 also has supported another community endeavor for many years.

Recognizing the value of Scouting, the post constructed a permanent building next to the Legion hall in Venice during the late 1940s for use by Boy Scout Troop 1 and Cub Pack 1.

This is the only building of its kind in the Cahokia Mound Council, built specifically for use by the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, and it is still in use today.

Post 307 has supported many other organizations and causes throughout the Quad-City Area for more than 50 years.

Political filing requirements to be discussed by Bowles

Madison County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles has announced a workshop will be held on Feb. 2, at 7 p.m., at the Madison County Courthouse, County Board Room B-1, Edwardsville, to inform candidates, political committees and interested citizens about filing obligations under the Illinois Campaign Financing Act.

"It is important in this election year that everyone running for office knows when to file certain campaign contribution reports and what information should be included. We want to help everyone so that the law is followed in every respect," Bowles said.

The workshop will be conducted with the assistance of the Illinois State Board of Elections.

The main topics will be procedures for completing the required reports for the 1988 primary and general election and for finalizing campaign activities. The public is invited to attend.

There were 68 births and 46 deaths in Granite City in November. The vital statistics for the city are tallied monthly by the city clerk's office.

Road rules course set in city

Secretary of State Jim Edgar, in cooperation with the Granite City Council of Senior Citizens, is offering a Rules of the Road Review course Dec. 16 for all area citizens.

The course is to help applicants pass the Illinois Drivers License renewal examination. It updates the rules of the road, explains vision and the driving examinations, and prepares applicants for the written examination.

The course will be held at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave., on Dec. 16 from 9 to 11 a.m.

The course is free. For more information, call Clyde Myers, 876-3981.

Schnucks assists fund drive

The Salvation Army will be at all area Schnucks stores through Dec. 31.

"We're very proud of the generosity of our customers," said Schnucks Chief Legal Counsel Terry Schnuck, "and this year, we're challenging them to beat last year's total of $20,000, to help the Salvation Army reach its goal of $2 million."

"We've never failed in 40 years to reach our goal," said Lt. Col. Lee Hickam, regional commander of the Salvation Army.

The Schnucks Christmas Kettle program has raised $70,000 since its inception in 1947.

Candidates file for Congress

Madison County Auditor Pete Fields, Glen Carbon; St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, Belleville; and Mike Mansfield, Belleville, chief aide to the retiring 21st Congressional District representative, Mel Price, D-Belleville, filed petitions for the seat Dec. 5. The three will vie in the Democratic primary March 1.

Hemophiliac aid restored

SPRINGFIELD — The state will again start paying the bills for expensive blood products needed by hemophiliacs such as 7-year-old Jason Robertson, Granite City.

Gov. James Thompson on Dec. 2 signed a supplemental appropriation bill restoring $539,000 for the program. It had been eliminated as part of his July budget cuts.

It was one of a handful of programs the governor and legislative leaders decided to restore during negotiations last month.

"We're certainly prepared to pay the bills again," said Sherwood Zimmerman, chief of the Illinois Department of Public Health division which administers the program.

About 100 persons statewide were getting help from the program when it was terminated. Zimmerman said most of the pharmaceutical companies that supplied the blood products hemophiliacs need for clotting had held off directly billing patients who were under the program. He said they "carried people on the books" in anticipation the money would be restored.

However, Tammie Robertson, mother of Jason Robertson, said Dec. 2 she had a $1,400 bill from Western Medical Co. for blood products her son had used while the state program was in limbo.

A trust fund for Jason was established after his plight was described in early August in the Press-Record and other news media. Mrs. Robertson said about $2,000 was contributed by individuals plus $1,000 from a benefit local talent show held by Alton area churches for Jason.

After the governor cut the state program, Mrs. Robertson had worried that the family would not be able to afford the blood products which cost $800 to $1,000 for a six-week supply. Jason has a severe form of the "bleeder's disease" and doesn't need an injury to start bleeding, she said.

Jason drew substantial attention recently when he became the only student last month in a new special classroom set up by the Granite City school district for children with the AIDS virus.

The boy acquired the AIDS-related complex from contaminated blood products.

The legislation signed by the governor Dec. 2 also restores $19 million in state funding for schools. It will mean less than a 1 percent increase in state aid this school year for most area districts.

It also includes money to permit the Math and Science Academy in Aurora to operate the full year. The "High Tech High" residential school for gifted students would have been forced to close next month if additional money was not provided. Nine students from the five-county area attend the academy and several of them came to Springfield last month to demonstrate what they learn for legislators and lobby for the additional funding.

The supplemental appropriation also provides $600,000 for the homeless; $1.1 million for renal dialysis treatment; $1 million for Alzheimer's Disease treatment programs; and $2.8 million for day care providers.

Tiff over downtown plan

Granite City Pressure to sign a petition to keep a downtown building from being included in the proposed downtown shopping center has been called political blackmail by an alderman.

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk said he was threatened he would not be supported by a union organization in the next election if he did not sign a petition to exclude the Labor Temple, 2014 State St., from being demolished in the downtown redevelopment program.

Fisk said Edwin Reiske, president of the Tri-Cities Trades and Labor Council, AFL-CIO, and financial secretary of the Labor Temple Association, told Fisk that if Fisk didn't sign the petition, the Labor Council would not support him in the next aldermanic election.

Steel firm sued

over man's injuries

EDWARDSVILLE — A lawsuit against Granite City Steel, seeking damages in excess of $15,000, was filed Nov. 18 in the Third Circuit Court.

The suit was filed by Sam Brown, an employee of Sachs Electrical Co. Brown was working at Granite City Steel on Feb. 10, 1987, when he was struck by a piece of machinery, resulting in injuries to his back and right arm.

Brown says the steel firm failed to provide him with a safe place to work, failed to provide adequate guards or shields to protect him and others from falling pellets, allowed pellets to spill onto the floor and failed to clean the floor of the pellets.

Besides the damages, Brown is seeking reimbursement for costs associated with the suit.

Survey: 6 jailers needed

A survey by state officials indicates six additional officers are needed to properly staff the Madison County jail in Edwardsville.

Sheriff Bob Churchich released a report on the survey Dec. 2 and said it would take $200,000 more than provided in the jail budget for this fiscal year, which began Dec. 1, to hire the extra personnel.

Churchich earlier said he faces "an impossible situation" in operating the jail on the $1,062,251 budget approved by the County Board.

The sheriff said it is "a probability" that the state will seek a court order to force the county to hire the extra staff.

Churchich said Illinois Department of Corrections officials conducted the staffing survey in October at his request. There was no charge to the county.

The sheriff said five of the 30 officers assigned to the jail are deputies who otherwise could perform patrol work or other department functions. Hiring six more jailers would not free those deputies for other duties, he said.

The report notes a high incidence of sick days among jail officers, but Churchich said in a letter to County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, that 95 percent of the sick time taken this year by jail officers was taken by officers who I know incurred legitimate illness either in an on-duty or off-duty status.

"Sick time is not abused by jail officers," Churchich said. Earlier inspections by the state Department of Corrections have resulted in recommendations that eight additional officers be hired but, after the new survey, the hiring of six officers should satisfy the state, Churchich said.

Churchich said County Board members said there is no money, but he said priorities may have to be re-examined.

Court dispositions

Guilty of firearm use

Benjamin A. Waggoner, 1217 Market St., Venice, pleaded guilty and was sentenced Nov. 16 on a charge of unlawful use of a firearm by a felon.

Waggoner, 32, was sentenced by Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. to one year of probation and was ordered to pay $57 court costs.

A second count was dismissed by Romani on a motion by the state's attorney.

The charges were filed Jan. 30 following an investigation by Madison authorities.

3 charges dismissed

Two counts of attempted murder and one count of defacing a firearm, filed against Kevin C. Garrett, 30, 1321 Oriole St., Venice, were dismissed Nov. 18 by Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr.

The state's attorney has filed to appeal the dismissal, a court clerk said.

The charges were filed March 10 after an investigation by Madison police.

Prison terms given

Larry W. Pettus, 29, rural Granite City, pleaded guilty and was sentenced Nov. 11 on two counts of aggravated battery and one count of criminal damage to property.

Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. sentenced Pettus to two years in prison on each of the battery counts and 364 days in jail on the property damage charge. The sentences will run concurrently, with credit for time spent in police custody, Romani ordered.

A third count of aggravated battery was dismissed by Romani.

The charges were filed April 8 after an investigation by the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

The charges were filed Aug. 12 following an investigation by Granite City authorities.

Varied tools stolen at Chouteau town garage

A burglary at the Chouteau Township garage, 306 Thorngate Drive, Mitchell, was reported Dec. 4 by township highway commissioner Robert Morris.

Taken were keys to the building, gasoline pumps and a tractor. Also stolen were two pneumatic impact wrenches, an electric impact wrench, part of a socket set, assorted tools, a timing light, two plastic buckets, an electric grinder and a citizens band radio. Value of the items is unknown.

James Devine, 2617 Whippoorwill Lane, told deputies Dec. 5 that a burglar entered his house, ransacked a bedroom and three valuable items around the room. It is unknown if anything was taken.

Schwab receives $500 grant

GRANITE CITY — Mary Lou Schwab, learning center teacher at Marshall Elementary School, was awarded a $500 Cultural Arts in Elementary Education grant.

The grant is awarded through the office of Russell G. Maslin, Macoupin County regional superintendent. Proposals from a 13-county regional area were submitted for competition.

SKOTTY'S
Jewelry & Card Shop
1304 Niedringhaus
876-6414

This is the second year that Schwab has received a $500 grant. Last year, her proposal ranked fourth out of the 69 submitted. That grant was the first of its kind to be awarded to a District 9 teacher.

Again this year, the Marshall School FTA will supplement the grant because two of the artists selected for the program had fees in excess of the amount limitation set in the budget provisions of the cultural arts grant. The FTA will provide $300.

"The purpose of the proposal is to engage the students in an intensive cultural arts program in literature, with music and art incorporated in the program. It will seek to provide an understanding of and appreciation for literature, music and art, as well as motivate them to read many of the vast number of stories written for children's enjoyment."

"We hope this will influence academic gains in reading achievement," Schwab said.

Ten special activities, assemblies or projects are being offered to Marshall children as a result of the grant. The year's schedule:

Nov. 18 — Ethnic Arts in Madison County with Peggy Creed.

Nov. 29 — Book character dress-up day; with a winners' assembly for the best-dressed characters.

Dec. 16 — German and Missouri folktales by Ruthilde Kronberg.

Feb. 2 — African folktales with Bobby Norfolk and African instruments with Kenya Ajanakan.

Feb. 15 — African Art: St. Louis Art Museum artifacts.

Feb. 8 — "Peter and the Wolf" film.

Feb. 15 — Five sessions during this week with Marilyn Kinsella as Taleypo the Storyteller.

March 1-5 — Art access kit: North American Indian art.

To be determined — Russian traditions, Easter egg decorating, folktales, and music.

April 19: Readers Theater Program featuring idea lab students and directed by Schwab.

At the conclusion of each presentation, an evaluation will be given by children and teachers.

ACT test offered

Sanford-Brown Business College, Granite City, is the only school now administering a new aptitude test devised by the American College Testing Program.

It can qualify persons who pass it for CED (General Educational Development) certification and federal financial assistance.

The test assesses career strengths and aptitudes. It is being administered on a weekly basis, free of charge, at the four Sanford-Brown Business College campuses.

For more information about this test in Granite City, persons may call 931-0300.

75th anniversary

WATCHING THEIR ASCENT: Balloons are released last week by students and teachers at St. Mary's Parochial School in Madison in celebration of the parish's 75th anniversary. The parish was established in 1912 and the present domed church was built about 30 years ago.

IBM donates $1,000 to Empathy program at city's high school

IBM Business Machines Corp. recently donated $1,000 to the Empathy Program at Granite City High School.

"Empathy" is a peer helper program which trains volunteer high school students to help friends through troublesome situations before they reach the extremes of drug abuse or teen suicide.

The grant was used to help cover costs of two retreats offered each year. Volunteers attend a three-day retreat which trains them in communication and referral skills, and problem solving. Granite City High School, with a student population of 2,800, has more than 100 volunteers.

E. Dewey Melton, a senior systems engineer for the IBM St. Louis branch office, requested the grant. His wife, Karen, is involved in "Empathy" as an adult supervisor at the retreats. Melton is a former School Board member and president.

"Our program was titled by the students," Jack Haug, a guidance counselor at the high school, said. "Ours is a peer system for other kids before they turn to drugs or suicide. We train volunteers to grow together as a unit and to know themselves first, before they can help others."

After receiving the list of volunteers, teachers give them the names of new or shy students or others who might be experiencing difficulty at home or in school. The volunteers show the new students around the school and keep in touch the first few weeks of a new term. Volunteers also have a list of authorities who can be contacted in problem situations.

The funding for this and other community projects comes from the IBM Fund for Community Service. It allows fund requests to be submitted by IBM employees, IBM retirees and their spouses who are active in local, non-profit organizations.

Once approved, the grant is made in the name of the IBM employee.

Last year, IBM donated $4.3 million for 2,500 projects through its Fund for Community Service.

Forty named state scholars

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission has announced its 1988-89 Illinois state scholars. Of this year's scholars, 40 are students at Granite City High School.

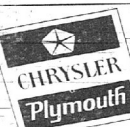

Although program participation by high schools is voluntary, nearly all of Illinois' top students elect to have test scores and high school class rank sent to ISSC for consideration. About 10 percent are named state scholars and receive a certificate of achievement.

In order to enter the competition, high school students must take the ACT and/or SAT examination between Jan. 1 and June 30 of their junior year of high school and have the scores sent to ISSC.

Selection of scholars is based on a combination of their test scores and their class rank at the end of the junior year. Nearly all will continue their education after high school.

Those named scholars are: Elizabeth Barr, Victoria Becker, Deborah Browning, Tammy Dong, Myles Epperson, Jonathan Foreman, Amy Guyon, Mark Hall, Darlene Hunter, Thomas Johnson, Michelle Knodrich, Michael Krausz, Heather Krpan, Patrick Lay, Christopher Layman, Jon Loskutner.

Nicole MacLaughlin, Larry McCracken, Kirk Mills, Chris Miskell, Alisa Nelson, Elizabeth Oyen, Melinda Pucker, William Pucker, Kari Rapoff, Jennifer Rudlen, Katherine Schriever, Richard Schroeder, Mary Schuman, Dawn Sheikh, Michelle Siers, Marc Sine, Eric Smith, Vincent Smith, Kevin Sutphin, Christy Thuyvenot, Robert Ward, Joseph Weidner, Rebecca Whitehead and Richard Witt.

Matthew 5:9 "Blessed are the peacemakers: For they shall be called the children of God."

The Christian community should be recognized as those who have peace that passes understanding. The reason, of course, being that we are owned by the Prince of Peace — Jesus Christ.

Peace is not a plan. It is not reasoned out, or thought out, or tested to see if it will work. God's ways are far above our ways and past finding out. Human reasoning and the peace of God are not always in agreement. Praying for those who spitefully use you, turning the other cheek, accepting persecution — these things cannot be reasoned out. Yet, they do bring about the conditions of peace because they are God's ways.

This is the reason of peace, and we should do everything in our power to make it as great as it can be.

Let's do it. Today.

Madison band concert tonight

The Madison High School band will present its first concert of the school year tonight at 7:30 in the auditorium. William Leebetter, instrumental music director in the Madison schools, will conduct.

Program selections are: Fanfare prelude on "Ode to Joy," "Majestic Overture," "The Spirit of '76," "Anchors Aweigh," "New York, New York," "Great Songs of Christmas," a medley of "Winter Wonderland," "Silver Bells," and "The Christmas Song," "The Skaters' Waltz," "Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame," a medley of "Jailhouse Rock," "Twist and Shout," "Stand by Me," and "Wipe Out," and "Christmas Music for Winds."

Admission to the concert is by season ticket. Single admissions are available at the door, at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Elizabeth Barr

Kirk Mills

2 named 'Teenagers of Month'

GRANITE CITY — Elizabeth Barr and Kirk Mills were named "Teenagers of the Month" for September by Granite City Elks Lodge 1663.

Barr, 17, 14 Nassau St., is the daughter of Barbara Barr and the late Fred Barr. She is a senior at Granite City High School.

She has served as vice president of the National Honor Society, a basketball and tennis statistician, secretary of the photography club, a math tutor, and past honored queen of the Job's Daughters. She has also been active in the science and foreign policy clubs.

Her hobbies are swimming and tennis.

Mills, 17, 2512 E. 28th St., is the son of Debra Mills and is a senior at the high school.

Mills has been active in the National Honor Society and the Varsity Club, serving as vice president. He was a member of the 1987 homecoming court and is on the varsity soccer team, and a three-year letterman.

His hobbies are soccer and fishing.

The "Teenager of the Month" program is sponsored by the Elks Lodge in an effort to bring recognition to outstanding teens in the area.

They are selected by a panel of students and teachers at the high school. Multiple achievement, citizenship, scholarship and leadership are the basis for their selection.

Students are nominated monthly by classmates and teachers and are screened by a school student-teacher committee for the selection. Nominations are accepted after the first Monday of each month.

Business classes offered

The School of Business at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer 12 graduate courses this winter at Westport Center in St. Louis leading to a Master of Business Administration degree.

Classes are held in the Registry Building, 238 Schuetz Road. For the convenience of persons holding full-time positions, the courses are scheduled during the evening hours and on weekends.

Evening courses available this winter at Westport Center include: Quantitative Methods, meeting Mondays; Theory of the Firm and Consumer Behavior, meeting Tuesdays; Process of Management, meeting Wednesdays; and Marketing Policies, meeting Thursdays.

Evening classes usually meet from 6 until 10 p.m.

Classes offered on the weekend format meet for two weeks ends, usually spaced three weeks apart, with classes scheduled from 6 until 10 p.m. on Fridays, and from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Weekend classes available this winter at Westport include: Analytical Methods and Models and External Environments and Business Performance, weekends of Jan. 8 and 29; Corporate Policy Formulation and Administration and Product Management, weekends of Jan. 15 and Feb. 5; Introduction to Corporate Finance and Financial Management, weekends of Feb. 19 and March 11; Operations Management and Financial Markets and Institutions, weekends of Feb. 26 and March 18.

Admission to the MBA program is required prior to attending the classes. For additional information, Irene Fendleton at 692-2922.

Seeks moratorium on school mandates

"Until the state effectively deals with its current financial dilemma, a moratorium should be imposed on the adoption of new mandates for schools," State Superintendent of Education Ted Sanders said recently in appointing a Mandates Task Force.

The purpose of the task force is to analyze and evaluate the spectrum of mandates placed on schools. This examination will include state statutes as well as rules and regulations of the State Board of Education.

"Since the board last conducted a review of the mandates in 1981, a number of new mandates have been added to the list of requirements for schools. At the same time that schools have been asked to do more, the state has not lived up to its commitment to provide the necessary funding," Sanders said.

"We need to periodically review the mandates to determine which ones need to be strengthened, changed, or eliminated," Sanders said. "The task force will update the board's efforts in 1981 and gather new information concerning the mandates."

The task force has not been assigned a specific completion date for its work.

The task force will meet Dec. 15, 10 a.m., Superintendent's Conference Room, fourth floor, State Board of Education Office, 100 N. First St., Springfield.

State Sen. John Maitland, Bloomington, will chair the task force.

Area Council PTA to hold craft show

The Area Council PTA is sponsoring a holiday craft show on Saturday, Dec. 12, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Shoppers will be able to select handmade gifts from more than 50 different booths and local craft makers will have an opportunity to display their talents, organizers said.

The public is invited.

Marshall gives Thanksgiving play

Two special Thanksgiving assemblies were given at Marshall Elementary School Nov. 25.

Barbara Houston's fourth-grade language arts students presented "In Time for Thanksgiving," with scenery, special properties and costumes. A large time machine stage piece was also built by the students.

The play is about a time machine that goes off unexpectedly and transports two girls to the Pilgrim's First Thanksgiving.

In an effort to bring the girls back, a mistake is made and the machine brings back famous people, such as Amelia Earhart and George Washington Carver.

Cast members were: narrator, Mandy Morlen; Professor Deutchen, Dennis Heath; Peter Peterson, Aaron Fowler; Patty Brandt Browning; Linda, Cheryl Dahm; Abraham Lincoln, Jeff Ahlvers; Christopher Columbus, Robert Jones; Queen Isabella, April Nelson; Mrs. Deutchen, Jeff Cahill; Charity, David Adams; Jonathan, Nickolas Downs; Patience, Melissa Hancock; Benjamin, Josh Kee; other Pilgrim children, Heather Carpenter, Angela Carney, Jessica Mayes, Amy Colp, and Christina Rocha; Squanto, Bryan Carr; Mrs. Collins, Robb Castle; Amelia Earhart, Rebecca Mitchell; and George Washington Carver, Jason Anderson.

Carrie Whitehead was in charge of props.

K mart helps area's needy

K mart stores throughout the area will be participating in two special holiday events to help the needy in the coming weeks.

In conjunction with KSHE Radio, KSDK-TV (Channel 5), First Nationwide Banks, Gateway Seed Co. and the Dry Cleaners Guild, K mart will again co-sponsor a citywide winter coat distribution program.

Metro area K marts will also open their doors to local underprivileged children Dec. 12, so they can shop for Christmas gifts for their loved ones as part of the chain's national "Good News" program.

The 22 area K marts and First Nationwide locations will be collection points for used but usable winter coats of customers and sales associates alike through Jan. 1.

K mart will pack the coats collected at each store, and the Gateway Seed Co. will transport them to Dry Cleaners Guild members stores where the coats will be cleaned free of charge. Damaged coats will be repaired by members of St. Ambrose's Catholic Church in south St. Louis. St. Patrick's Church, on the near North Side, will distribute the garments to those in need.

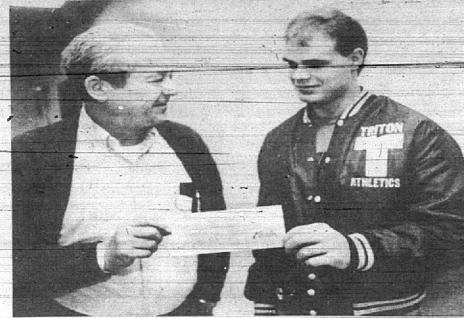

"Last year the campaign raised 2,000 coats for the needy of St. Louis," said Wayne Perzee, K mart district manager.

"We're hoping at this time of giving that our customers, associates and friends alike will join in," Perzee said. K mart had set a goal of 20,000 in this year's campaign.

As part of a national "Good News" program, each area K mart store will give 20 children $20 each to buy Christmas presents. The children will also be treated to breakfast by K mart and receive a gift-wrapped present from Santa Claus.

Local city organizations select the names of the 40 "shoppers." "We have found from the past two years that sharing Christmas activities with underprivileged children in the community benefits everyone who participates," said Perzee. "We care about the community we live in and work in."

The K mart Corp. employs 3,200 people at its 22 area stores.

Scrum guessed 722; there were 719 balls in the container. Prizes for second through fifth places also were awarded.

Consumer tips

By Neil Hartigan
Illinois attorney general

Q. What rights do I have when making a purchase—from a door-to-door salesperson?

A. In making purchases at your home from a door-to-door salesperson, the Federal Trade Commission's "cooling off" rule gives you three days to change your mind. This rule applies to purchases of $25 or more made in your home, in someone else's home, or if you meet on a street corner. As long as the sale is made anywhere other than the seller's normal place of business it is covered by the FTC rule. For example, it applies to consumer product parties given in private homes, rented hotel rooms, and restaurants.

Under the Federal Trade Commission's rules, the salesperson must inform you of your cancellation rights at the time of the sale. The salesperson might also give you two copies of a cancellation form, one to keep and one to send. At the time of sale, you should also receive a copy of your dated contract or receipt showing the name and address of the seller and an explanation of your right to cancel.

If you decide to cancel, sign and date one copy of the cancellation form and return to the seller. Mail the form any time before midnight of the third business day after the contract date. You may want to return the cancellation form by certified mail for proof of the mailing date and proof of receipt. If you are not given cancellation forms, you can write your own letter of cancellation or you may send a telegram.

The cooling-off rule helps you protect yourself if you change your mind about a purchase made at home. No explanation is required when you cancel a purchase. Under the law, it is your right to change your mind.

Spending the holiday green needn't bring on the blues

When making holiday shopping decisions this season, remember that the Tax Reform Act has given you something more to think about than what to get your Aunt Kathy.

Consumers should give thought to their payment methods in light of the phasing out of the income tax interest deduction for consumer debt, says the Missouri Society of CPAs.

This year only 65 percent of consumer debt interest (such as, from credit cards, auto loans and personal loans) is deductible. Next year it drops to 40 percent; in 1989, to 20 percent; in 1990, to 10 percent. It is eliminated in 1991.

Before you start calculating 65 percent of the interest on your holiday purchases, remember, the 40 percent figure becomes effective Jan. 1. Consumers who do not pay their credit card bills in full by then will be able to deduct only 40 percent of their interest charges.

The best way to pay for holiday gifts is, of course, with cash. Even if it means dipping into your savings a little more than you had wanted, better yet, cash holiday season pay with the cash that you saved over the course of the year expressly for Christmas. By adopting this practice, you may find your holidays are a lot more joyful.

Keep in mind that even after tax considerations, an 18 percent credit card interest rate in 1987 will cost you about 14 percent if you are in the 25 percent tax bracket. Your savings would need to generate at least that 14 percent for it to make sense to use your credit card.

A home equity loan is a possibility after all, the interest on it is generally still deductible. But think carefully about whether you really want to put your home up as collateral for holiday gifts.

There are a few other drawbacks to using a home equity loan to pay for holiday shopping. First is the lead time required to obtain the loan. There also probably will be closing costs involved. In addition, the interest deduction on home equity loans may be limited and Congress may limit it further in the future.

The Tax Reform Act allows you to deduct interest only on loans up to the original purchase price of your home less the amount you owe on your mortgage, plus the cost of any improvements you have made.

For example, if you purchased your home for $50,000, made $5,000 worth of improvements, and owe $35,000, you could borrow up to $20,000 and deduct the interest cost. The interest on any amount above the $20,000 is only deductible if used for medical, educational or home improvement purposes.

If you have only recently purchased your home, you may not have built up that much equity on the original purchase price because most of your mortgage payment goes to pay interest. In short, a home equity loan may not be the way for you to pay for holiday shopping.

If credit is your only alternative, there are a number of steps you can take to reduce the expense. First, if you shop with a credit card, use one that has a low interest rate. And be sure to pay your bill off as soon as possible. Paying the monthly minimum is tempting, but expensive.

Another possibility is a loan from a credit union if you belong to one. Generally, the credit union's interest rate will be lower than that of a credit card and probably lower than most banks.

If you must use credit for your holiday shopping, also use your head. Every dollar you spend will have to be paid back, and remember interest charges. Set spending limits for yourself and stick to them. Avoid buying anything just because you have money in your pocket or can put it on your credit card. And while you're out at the store, stop by your bank and open a holiday account. That way, you won't have to borrow to pay for next year's presents.

'87 not bad for long-term money

By Bob Hockcastle

The stock market started out this year with a real bang and for the first time since the Dow Jones hit 2000. From the second trading day of the year until late October the stock market was off and running, making some type of pullback every three or four weeks and then immediately turning around and setting new highs.

Interest rates also had been working their way lower while bond prices moved to a five year high. In March and early April, interest rates began to rise again. It was not a big increase but it was a definite change of direction. As the rates turned up, bond prices fell quickly, losing approximately 20 percent of their value between April and October.

The farmer who had been hurt by grain prices over for the last five years, continued to moan during the first six months of the year. Prices reached a five year low. During August when wheat and corn prices were lower than they had been since the 1981 harvest.

Although metals performed poorly in 1986, during the first nine months of 1987, silver and platinum moved up strongly at different intervals. Silver reached the $11 level while gold broke $500 and platinum ran through the $600 level. Even though the South African gold mining strike and the Persian Gulf area were explosive situations, they did not have any prolonged effect on the movement of metals.

More money went into the mutual fund markets in 1987 than ever before. The returns during the first nine months with many funds showed a profit, of more than 30 percent, with some high risk funds moving up over 100 percent. Mutual funds investment dollars were moving into stocks, convertible bonds, balanced government bond funds and total return markets.

Tax reform brought a lot of interest into single premium life insurance and annuity programs. This type of program was one of the few kinds of investments that allowed investors funds to accumulate on a tax-deferred basis.

The past year has also been a year of diversification. The financial pyramid did not work as well. Remember that most investments are geared to long-term holding periods and that the sudden change in certain markets many times does not affect their long-term status.

The pullbacks in the stock market Oct. 19 made a big change in the way investors are going to follow the markets from now on. The market really started its fall the week before when the report on the national deficit did not show as great a reduction as anticipated.

Many investors are concerned the government isn't going to its job alone; politicians have had all year to get the budget tightened.

They finally came up with a $70-billion in budget cuts over the next two years, as well as a new tax proposal to raise revenue without increasing individual income taxes. I really hope that by March 1988 the budget is reduced by more than $100 billion, a move that would be a positive sign that should spur a positive feeling toward the economy and investment community. I think that a good amount of the 500-point pull-back that the stock market made on Oct.

19 was due to emotional selling as well as computer trading. With many investors, the emotions of the market always will be with them. In my opinion, computer trading in the stock market should be regulated to the degree that will prevent another pull-back similar to the one on Oct. 19.

We should see sideways movements in the markets this month. Metals and oil probably will move lower and grain prices should continue to move up to new highs since their seven-year low in August. Investor attitude probably will not turn bullish again until after the Dow is above the 2500 level once more. During the waiting period, diversification will be the name of the game.

In the long run, the falling dollar can help our economy by allowing the United States to become more competitive in world markets because our products will be cheaper to purchase. This in turn will help our trading deficit.

By midsummer 1988 I expect to see the lowest interest rates for the last five years, a stable dollar, low metals prices, low inflation and excellent consumer spending. But this is what frequently occurs in an election year.

Senior action line

This column contains answers to questions that are frequently asked at Lt. Gov. George Ryan's Senior Action Centers. The center's toll-free phone number is 1-800-252-6565 and in Springfield the number is 472-6666.

Q: Now that I am retired and living on a very limited income, I am concerned about the increasing utility rates. How can I reduce the amount of energy used to heat my home?

A: Yes, there are several measures you can take.

• Shut all windows and doors tightly.

• Close the doors on the rooms that are not used. Also close closet doors.

• Stop drafts by placing a rug along the bottom of the door.

• Open drapes on the east, south and west sides of your home on sunny winter days.

• Be certain to close drapes or shades on cloudy days and at night.

• If possible, maintain your thermostat at 68 degrees during the day.

• Fortify your windows by making an interior storm window out of plastic film and tape or staples.

• Seal any cracks around windows and doors by caulking them.

• Every month, check your furnace filter, and change when needed.

Q: A lot of people seem to be using small stoves or space heaters to help them economize. What type of safety precautions should be followed in using one?

A: If your heater comes with a three-prong plug and you do not have a three-hole outlet it is important to use an adapter. Also, make sure that the adapter ground wire or tab is attached to the outlet.

• Always keep the heater away from passageways and flammable materials such as curtains, rugs, furniture, etc.

• Especially in using a kerosene heater, gas heater or an LP gas heater, understand the installation and operating instructions. It's an unvented heater you're using, slightly open a window or door to provide ventilation. Improper ventilation can cause carbon monoxide poisoning — and older consumers are at a higher risk of this.

Q: I've heard that 20 percent of my total heating bill is due to the cost of heating water. How can I reduce the cost?

A: You can cut back your bill by:

• Insulating your water heater storage tank with an approved kit.

• Reducing water use by taking a short shower rather than a bath.

• Wash your clothes in warm or cold water, not hot.

• Set the water temperature on low or 120 degrees on your water heater. (This could save you $20 per year.) Don't just let the hot water run when washing or shaving; draw a sinkful of water instead.

1. The legal name of the taxing district is Madison Community Unit School District No. 12.
2. The aggregate amount of property taxes exclusive of election costs and inclusive of bonds and interest costs, extended by the County Clerk of Madison County, Illinois, upon the levy by Madison Community Unit School District No. 12, Madison, Illinois, for its fiscal year 1987-1988, based on the assessed valuation of the property within the Madison School District, for the year 1986, was $504,320.42.
3. The amount of Madison Community Unit School District No. 12 proposed levy, exclusive of election costs, but including bonds and interest cost, estimated as necessary to be raised by taxation for the District's fiscal year 1988-1989, and based on taxes levied against the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1987, is $717,500.00.
4. Said proposed levy of $717,500.00 represents an increase of $213,179.58, or a 42% increase in the proposed aggregate amount of property taxes to be levied and extended for the fiscal year 1988-1989, against the assessed valuation of the District for the year of 1987, as said levy relates to the taxes extended on the levy of the preceding year of 1986.
5. A public hearing regarding said proposed aggregate amount of property tax to be levied and extended for the District's fiscal year 1988-1989, on the assessed valuation of the District for 1987, will be held at 7:00 P.M. on the 17th day of December, 1987, in the School Board Office located at 1707 Fourth Street, Madison, Illinois.

All persons desiring to be heard on any matters regarding the proposed tax levy of the District for the 1987 year may appear and be heard at said time and place.

Dated this 9th day of December, 1987

Albers

Paul J. Albers Jr., 64, 21025 Pontoon Road, Ill. for one year, died at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 8, 1987, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was admitted on Nov. 26.

Born in St. Louis, he moved here in 1915 from Swansea. From 1964 until September of this year he was a resident of Staunton.

Mr. Albers was a member of Hope Lutheran Church, the Lutheran Layman's League and the Retired Postal Workers Association. He was employed as a mail carrier at the Granite City Post Office for 34 years and retired there in 1964 as a station supervisor.

Survivors include one son, Fred Albers Jr., Litchfield; a daughter, Mrs. Raymond (Miltie) Schubert, Granite City; a sister, Mrs. Ella Rothgangel, Belleville; 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Visitation will be from 4 to 9 p.m. today at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2901 Madison Ave. The Rev. David Fielding will officiate at 11 a.m. services Friday at Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave., with burial at St. John Cemetery, 2901 Madison Ave.

Mary Muich

Muich

Mrs. Mary K. (Gorman) Muich, 85, of Madison, was pronounced dead at her home by Madison County Deputy Coroner Mark Scott at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 8, 1987.

A resident of Madison for 67 years, Mrs. Muich was born in Mount Olive.

She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Madison. Her husband, Charlie Muich Sr., died in May 1956. A son, Charlie Muich Jr., and a daughter, Katherine Yurkovich, also preceded her in death.

Among the survivors are a son, John Muich, Cahokia; a sister, Mrs. Ann Durbin, Chicago; 10 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Mass was celebrated by the Rev. James Keefe at 10 a.m. today at St. Mary's Catholic Church, 10th Street and Alton Ave., Madison. Burial was at Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville. The Rosary was recited and visitation was held Wednesday evening at Lathrop Sedlack Funeral Home, 615 Madison Ave., Madison.

O'Master

Charlie O'Master, 78, of San Bernardino, Calif., formerly of Granite City, died on Tuesday, Dec. 1, 1987, in California.

Mr. O'Master was born in Illinois and resided in Granite City for many years.

He was employed 25 years at Kaiser Steel in Fontana, Calif., and previously worked as a millwright at Granite City Steel.

Mr. O'Master lived in the San Bernardino area for the past 15 years. He was preceded in death by a daughter, Barbara Carla Pierce.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Barbara O'Master; a daughter, Maxine Whitten, California; a sister, Mary Burgess, Yucaipa, Calif.; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Services were held Friday, Dec. 4, at Ingold Chapel, Fontana, Calif. Burial was at Mount View Cemetery, California.

Tracy White, St. Louis, a brother, Phillip White, Venice, and three grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his father, Jesse White.

Visitation will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday at Officer Funeral Home, 1501 Winstanley Ave., East St. Louis. The Rev. John H. Williams and Elder Sides White will officiate at 11 a.m. services Saturday at New Salem Baptist Church, 1349 Klein Ave., Venice. Burial will be at Sunset Gardens of Memory, Millstadt.

Scherrills

Leon G. Scherrills, 77, Staunton, Ill., formerly of Venice and Granite City, died Dec. 9, 1987, at home.

He was born in Kismet, Mo., and lived in the Quad-Cities for many years. Mr. Scherrills was a member of the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307.

Survivors include his wife, L. Diana (Barnes) Scherrills; one son, James Scherrills, Granite City; a daughter, Susan Roden, Moberly, Mo.; stepdaughter, Shirley Perigo, Granite City; a sister, Opal Dippel, St. Louis and six grandchildren.

Arrangements are pending at Lathrop-Sedlack Funeral Home, 615 Madison Ave., Madison. Call 876-4321 for additional information.

Bathon

Madison treasurer gets endorsement

McPike's House seat is considered serious by McPike, who said he will face any opponent. In the three-day competition for recorder of deeds, Donohoo was endorsed over Lucas and Terry Allan, supervisor of Collinsville Township.

In the match for an endorsement between State's Attorney Dick Allen, Granite City, and Madison County Board member Bill Haine, Alton, Haine won by an almost 3-1 margin: 20,529 to 7,973, a source said.

"What the Democratic Party has said here tonight is that the state's attorney has been less than adequate," Haine said. "People want justice to work."

Allen did not attend the meeting and could not be reached for comment.

Securing an endorsement in the auditor race were Granite City 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak, the county's assistant auditor, Fred Bathon, who is also the city of Madison's treasurer; Madison County Board member Alan Dunstan, Troy; and Jack Frandsen, Alhambra Township supervisor. Bathon won the nomination, a source said, with approximate vote totals being 14,000 for Bathon, 12,000 for Perjak, 9,000 for Dunstan and 7,000 for Frandsen.

Circuit Clerk Butch Portell, Collinsville, got the endorsement over Dan Churavich, Granite City, head of the Manpower Development Program in the county.

Coroner Dallas Burke, Alton, was endorsed over Bob Thomas, Granite City, owner of Thomas Mortuaries.

In all, about 30 members of the party's central committee decided the endorsements. Each person on the committee represents several hundred Democrats.

Centcom says rate will rise again

TCI-Cable, 115, and Continental-Belleville, 114.25. None of these systems offers the senior citizen discount, he said.

The adjustment in basic rates is due to "substantial increases in programming costs and an aggressive Illinois service improvement program," Tritel said.

Nameoki-Methodist to perform musical

The Chancel Choir of Nameoki United Methodist Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, with the accompaniment and direction of Beth Nicol, will present choruses from "The Messiah" by George Frederick Handel at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 13.

This musical will include "And the Glory of the Lord," "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings to Zion," "He Shall Feed His Flock," "Come Unto Him," "For Unto Us a Child is Born," "Glory to God" and "Hallelujah." Featured soloists will be Marilyn Bernas, Linda Briner and Jo Reed.

The public is invited to attend. For more information, call 877-1838. Transportation will be provided by request.

Rules City Council has increased restrictions

Citizens wanting to address the council who are not on the agenda can do so only with two-thirds council approval.

In another concession to committee chairmen, no resolution to spend money will be allowed without being referred to an appropriate committee and without the committee producing a report. An emergency exception to that rule was included.

Old Newsboys gifts nearing 1986 totals

By Wm. Scott Simon Staff affiliate

With the Christmas holiday season in full swing, the lyric "good will to men" at the Christmas song "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" is appropriately applicable to the fund-raising effort of Old Newsboys Day on Nov. 19, sponsored by the Suburban Journals.

All money collected from the drive is donated to several children's charities in the bi-state area.

Kathy Smith, director of public relations for the Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis, said this year's total is quickly approaching last year's figure of $236,238. She said the total counted by Mercantile Bank as of Dec. 9 was $226,155.

"Each day, more and more money is being deposited and counted," Smith said. "The total is good — very good."

"Every penny goes directly into the fund and it is all dispensed to children's charities."

Smith wants to remind people that tax-deductible donations may still be made by sending a check or money order to Old Newsboys Fund, c/o Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

She said a complete list of charities and the amounts donated will be published in the Christmas Day edition of the Suburban Journals.

The Old Newsboys Day fund began in 1957, sponsored by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Over the years, $1 million has been collected and donated to children's charities.

Goldenberg said the two versions meant the same thing. The council limited debate to three minutes per alderman and each would be able to speak two times. The section was changed to allow such aldermen two times to speak on a motion with no limit on discussion time.

The council previously had no restriction on debate time.

One potentially controversial item was eliminated from the ordinance proposal. It gave the mayor, as meeting chairman, the right to call a roll and fine aldermen for breaking the new rules.

Another clause that was thrown out barred aldermen from leaving their seats without the mayor's permission.

Aldermen voting for the new rules were: Everett Mochen, Jim Cammer, Skunk, Paul Fink, Dan Partney, Walter Milton, Jeff Worthen and Emerald Dawes.

Voting against the rules were: Cammer, Skunk, Paul Fink, Dan Partney, Walter Milton, Jeff Worthen and Emerald Dawes.

Holiday blessings include doctors

I'm back at work, after some unexpected surgery. As I sit down at the keyboard, computer, not pie no — my thoughts are on doctors. Not only those who treated me at various times during the past eight weeks, but more than 100 physicians and surgeons who live in and/or work in the Quad City Area.

At a time when many American cities are unable to attract a sufficient number of doctors, this community is blessed with a wide variety of skilled healers, dedicated to the cause of our health and well-being.

I was impressed by their numbers at the annual Christmas dinner-party for local doctors held Dec. 4.

About 200 persons attended, and many couples stayed for hours, dancing to everything from "In the Mood" to "New York, New York." In addition, despite my Nov. 16 operation, that in itself is a testimonial to their good work.

Physicians always have fascinated me, partly because my sister, Wilma, a Granite City High School graduate, is a medical doctor living in St. Louis.

She initially became a nurse, through the federal government's Cadet Nurse program, complete with unique red and grey uniforms, in World War II.

She next became a teacher of nurses. Only then did she decide to become a doctor, it was an easy decision, because in those days only a few women were accepted.

Christmas is suddenly upon us, even though I didn't even get a chance to celebrate Halloween this year. Extensive holiday de-

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

Church altars are aglow-as local congregations observe the Advent season, leading up to joyous Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services.

Stores thronged-with-shoppers are laden not only with gifts but all kinds of colorful, festive holiday finery that amazes and entrances youngsters of all ages. It's a great time of the year for most of us. And a time to be extra generous to help brighten Christmas for others.

It's also been a great pre-Christmas period for a former Madison County editor, U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, who for many years represented Granite City in Illinois' House and Senate, as well as serving as the 1969-72 lieutenant governor.

Simon has been gaining steadily in presidential surveys in Iowa, and is now regarded as the potential winner there. Simon is thought to have a narrow lead over the Massachusetts governor and a slightly larger edge over Rep. Gephardt.

But Gov. Dukakis seems likely to win by a big margin in the New Hampshire primary. Boston television stations are viewed throughout New England, giving him much recognition. The guess here is that one of the three will get the Democratic nomination and then face either Vice President Bush or Sen. Dole in the general election.

You read it here first. In a 1986 Press-Record/Journal column, I speculated that Simon was a natural to run for the White House in 1988. He read it and wrote a joking reply, asking me what I had been smoking lately to get such a hallucination, or words to that effect.

Later on, a group of more than a dozen of his former U.S. House colleagues visited him and urged him to run for the presidency.

Simon continued to back a Southerner, who still later announced he would not run. It was then that Paul began to explore the possibility of running and he ultimately launched a full-fledged campaign.

His successful try for the Senate in 1984 saw him attending rallies in the company of that other Paul Simon, the singer-composer. He also was backed by Margot Kidder, the actress who portrayed Lois Lane in the "Superman" movies.

Now, Simon, the Oval Office seeker, has campaigned with Superman himself, actor Christopher Reeve. They appeared jointly in New York this month and noted that Metropolis is in Simon's former Congressional district.

There actually was a Daily Planet there. Clark Kent was not on the staff, but its editor used to be Sam Smith, who then became news chief at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Tax reform not over yet

If you know the new tax brackets and understand the provisions of tax reform, congratulations.

Now forget some of them. Federal income tax brackets will change dramatically in 1988, along with several other provisions, says the Missouri Society of CPAs.

The most dramatic change will be in the tax rate structure. This year there are five brackets ranging from 11 percent to 33.5 percent. For many people, the new tax brackets are good news because they will result in lower taxes. For example, under the new brackets, a married couple with a combined taxable income of $22,000 will pay $107 less in taxes compared to 1987.

That's the positive side for the couple with a taxable income of $22,000. On the negative side, the couple will be in the same bracket with a couple with a taxable income of $70,000, a marked difference from the highly progressive tax rate of just two years ago.

The new tax rates also mean higher taxes for some people with low incomes. For a single person, tax on a taxable income of $15,000 will be $2,178 for 1987, but for 1988, taxes on the same taxable income jump to $2,250.

And the taxes in 1987 were no bargain. A single person with a taxable income of $15,000 in 1986 paid just $1,922 in taxes. That's a 17 percent increase over two years.

The deduction for consumer interest also changes in 1988. For 1987 interest on consumer credit other than qualified home mortgage interest is only 65 percent deductible. For 1988 that drops to 40 percent.

That means you lose 25 cents in deductions for every dollar of interest you pay on car loans, credit cards and other consumer loans. In addition, since your tax bracket could be lower, the tax benefits also will be worth less.

The same 65 and 40 percent figures apply to passive losses in 1987 and 1988 generated from activities entered into on or before Oct. 22, 1986. Losses from interests in activities acquired after Oct. 22, 1986, are not eligible for the limited deduction, but they are fully subject to the passive loss rules.

Losses from a passive activity are deductible only against income from passive activities. Unused or suspended losses can be carried forward indefinitely and be used to offset passive income realized in subsequent years.

Special rules apply to rental real estate activities. The passive loss disallowance rule will not apply to the first $25,000 of net losses from rental real estate activities in which the individual "actively participates."

The $25,000 allowance will be phased out at the rate of $1 for every $2 of income as a taxpayer's adjusted gross income increases from $100,000 to $150,000.

The deduction for qualified investment interest costs, such as interest on loans used to buy stock—that exceed investment income, also falls to the 40 percent level in 1988 from 65 percent in 1987.

Old Six Mile receives award for publication

Granite City's Old Six Mile Historical Society received a commendable mention for its publication "Old Six Mile. Clippings and Chatting" by the Congress of Illinois Historical Societies and Museums at its annual meeting held in Mount Vernon.

The awards ceremony was held to recognize the achievements of statewide member organizations in their collection, preservation, research and editorial endeavors throughout the year.

Lincoln group honors John Chancellor

National political commentator John Chancellor, former basketball coach Ray Meyer, Judge Abraham Lincoln Marovitz, business leader Patrick O'Malley and industrialist Dwayne Andreas have been selected by the Lincoln Academy for its 1988 Order of Lincoln honors.

Gov. James R. Thompson, president of the Lincoln Academy, will preside over ceremonies April 16 in Springfield. The Academy annually honors outstanding residents either from or residing in Illinois.

Kaskaskia settlement on historic register

The First Kaskaskia Village of the Illini Indian Confederacy, known as the Zimmerman Site, has been placed on the Illinois Register of Historic Place. The designation places the site under the limited protection of the Illinois Historic Preservation Act, working toward acquisition of the site.

The 131-acre area is the place where the French explorer Louis Jolliet and Father Marquette first encountered the Illini Indians in 1663. Where Marquette established the first Christian church in the state in 1673, and where as many as 9,000 people resided in 1677, making it one of the largest settlements in North America at that time.

Circuit Breaker relief delayed by mistakes

Simple mistakes often cause delays in Circuit Breaker tax relief checks, said Roger D. Sweet, director for the Illinois Department of Revenue. "These checks are between $80 and $780, and they're for the low-income elderly and disabled. It's important for anyone who fills out a Circuit Breaker application, especially volunteer helpers, to pay attention to certain details."

Common mistakes include: forgetting to sign applications; failing to check off marital status; failing to include proof of disability; failing to include proof of age; and writing down Social Security benefits on the wrong line.

Persons who are at least 65 years old or totally disabled, with a total household income of less than $14,000, are eligible.

Tax reformer package gets governor's OK

Gov. James R. Thompson has signed into law unemployment reforms that will guarantee solvency of the state unemployment insurance trust fund, raise benefits to unemployed workers and reduce taxes for employers by more than $400 million next year.

Under the new law, effective Jan. 1, Illinois employers paying average UI taxes will realize a savings of about $165 per worker; unemployment benefits will be increased an average of 4 percent for each of the first three years of the five-year package; unemployment insurance benefits will be paid, under certain circumstances, to workers who are locked out.

"With this legislation, our business climate can improve dramatically. Employer taxes are being reduced, and the successful negotiations leading up to this package have sent a clear message throughout the world that Illinois business and labor leaders cooperate for the betterment of both sides," Thompson said.

Veterans organize new unit

More than 166 U.S. Navy veterans who served aboard landing craft support ships (LCS) during World War II, including their wives, met in Libertyville, Ill., for the first gathering and reunion of the USS-LCS Association. Lt. Richard Rhame of Orangeburg, S.C., is editor of the association's newsletter.

Among those attending was Eugene Scott of Granite City. Officers elected were Capt. Henry V. Jeffers, Waukegan, Ill.; Executive Officer Ben J. Kaborline, Addison, Ill.; and 1st Lieut. Bill Reid of Mattoon, Ill. The association was formed to contact all survivors of LCS service for membership in the national organization, without interfering with smaller LCS reunions.

World War II Naval history relating to the landing craft support ships is to be compiled by the group. They are said to have played a crucial role in the conflict with Japanese from Okinawa through the Philippines, New Guinea and Borneo and after the war in the East China Sea.

Plans were made to collect memorabilia, individual ships' histories, personal recollections by recordings and manuscripts, photographs, and other pertinent information for compilation and research purposes in a permanent museum aboard an LCS.

The 1988 reunion of the new organization will be held in Norfolk, Va., during the third week of October.

Derek Bradley

Cadet Derek S. Bradley, son of Jacqueline Jefferies, 638 Broadway, Venice, has received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp at Fort Riley, Kan.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communication, management and survival training.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission for the cadet as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army Army Reserve or National Guard. Bradley is a student at Mississippi Valley State University at Itta Bena, Miss.

Candy Wall

Candy A. Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Peggy) Wall, Granite City, enlisted in the Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program, said Staff Sgt. Elliot Clark, Air Force recruiter at 415 E. Main St., Belleville.

A 1987 graduate of Granite City High School, Wall is scheduled for enlistment in the Regular Air Force on Feb. 23, 1988. Upon graduating from the USAF six week basic training course near San Antonio, Texas, Wall is scheduled to receive technical training in the security specialist career field.

Wall will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

Mark Gaven

Mark A. Gaven has enlisted in the United States Navy for guaranteed training at the Navy's Electronics Technician School.

The son of Barry and Kathleen Gaven, Granite City, Gaven is a 1987 graduate of Granite City High School.

By enlisting under the Delayed Entry Program, Gaven will report for duty in May 1988 to San Diego, where he will take basic training, followed by 42 weeks of schooling at Great Lakes Naval Training Center in the electronics technician field.

Electronic technicians are responsible for all electronic equipment used to send and received messages, detect enemy planes and ships, and determine the distance of targets.

This responsibility includes maintaining, repairing, calibrating, tuning and adjusting all electronic equipment used for communication, detection and tracking, recognition and identification, navigation and electronic counter measures.

Gaven's recruiter, Petty Officer First Class Patrick Eleonor of the Granite City Recruiting Station, said the recruit may go on to additional schooling, or be assigned to any one of the Navy's duty stations around the world.

Thomas C. McCallister

Pvt. Thomas C. McCallister, son of Mary E. McCallister, 2427 Lincoln Ave., has completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

McCallister is a 1987 graduate of Granite City High School.

In the training, he received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy and justice, first aid and Army history and traditions.

Kenneth Kalka

Marine Lance Cpl. Kenneth F. Kalka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. (Mary J.) Kalka, 1633 Sycamore Ave., recently was deployed to the Marine Corps Mountain Warfare Training Center at Bridgeport, Calif.

While there, Kalka received training in the Battalion Mountain Operation Course. The program is designed to finely tune skills in climbing, fixed rope installation, navigation, platoon movement across rugged natural obstacles, plus company and battalion offensive and defensive tactics in the mountains.

A 1984 graduate of Granite City High School, Kalka joined the Marine Corps in July 1984.

Sailors, Marines will enjoy cards

Thousands of U.S. Navy sailors and Marines will be spending the upcoming holiday season far away from their families and loved ones aboard ships in the Persian Gulf.

Persons can show their appreciation for their sacrifice by sending a holiday card or letter to a sailor or Marine serving his country at sea, the Navy suggests.

Cards and letters (no packages) should be sent by first class mail (22 cents postage) to:

Sacred cows to be butchered

If the Labor Temple must be demolished to revive downtown Granite City, then flatten it.

The 1,850 unemployed people living in this financially choking city of 37,000 want jobs. They're not worried about an old building in downtown Granite City — an area about which Mayor Von Dee Cruse once said a man could fire a cannon without having to worry about anyone noticing.

Edwin Reiske, Tri-Cities Trades and Labor Council president, is financial secretary of the Labor Temple Association. He wants the building excluded from an area downtown that is designated for revitalization.

A pile of brick and mortar should not be allowed to stand in the way of a plan that could drop the city's unemployment rate by 16 percent. Some 300 people will be hired to work at the proposed downtown shopping center that will replace the Labor Temple and other buildings in the deteriorating area between Madison and Edison avenues, and 17th and 21st streets.

If Reiske's petitions cause the City Council to exclude the Labor Temple from the redevelopment area, it will open the way for every dissenter in the area to try the same thing. The outcome would be the death of the downtown project.

When the time comes for the City Council to choose between downtown revitalization and slaughtering sacred cows, we suggest the aldermen have an ax, a grill and plenty of barbecue sauce on hand.

Repair King, then McKinley

The bad news is that the Martin Luther King Bridge across the Mississippi River is going to be closed for 15 months, probably beginning in March. The good news is that the closing will enable its deck to be replaced, a railroad overpass to be repaired, and access ramps to be constructed.

The bridge literally has been falling down, and its traffic lanes have been reduced from four to two to reduce stress on the 36-year-old span. After it is reopened in the summer of 1989, all four lanes will be utilized.

Deterioration of the bridge is directly related to the lack of a high volume of vehicular traffic following completion of the toll-free Interstate 55/70 structure known as the Poplar Street Bridge. East St. Louis city officials were neither able to attract enough toll revenue to keep the King Bridge adequately repaired, nor were they able to meet their bridge bond debt.

Earlier this year, bondholders received a partial, final payment and the Illinois and Missouri governments became the owners, paving the way for an infusion of federal and state funding.

The states' ultimate goal is to tie the King Bridge more fully into the interstate system, reducing the current heavy reliance on the Poplar Street Bridge.

Now that the King Bridge has been made toll-free, thought should be given to ways to eliminate all remaining tolls on the network of bridges connecting the bi-state metropolitan area.

A key step in achieving this objective will need to involve Venice's river bridge, McKinley. Built in 1910, it was acquired by the municipality of Venice through a bond issue that still remains to be retired.

Much like the East St. Louis situation, competition with free bridges has made it a losing struggle to accumulate enough toll money to meet McKinley's bond principal and interest and to carry out recommended maintenance and repair work.

Safety factors and the regional traffic congestion problem are ample reasons to place the McKinley Bridge high on the list of unfinished but urgent transportation facility improvements.

'911' proposed for county

Considerable interest is likely to develop as a result of a meeting to be held next month on the possibility of creating a 911 emergency telephone system serving all of Madison County.

Keys to obtaining countywide participation will include the cost of the system, and its probable degree of efficiency. If it would truly speed the provision of police, fire and ambulance service, it might be attractive. If it would bog down in delays and boundary confusion, it ought to be avoided.

Those to be invited to the meeting include county and city disaster executives, the sheriff, fire and police chiefs and representatives of other agencies.

The 911 plan, popular in many areas of the nation, is utilized at present in this county only by Edwardsville and Highland. Its appeal includes the familiarity of the three numbers, enabling persons in crises to make a quick telephone call for fast assistance.

Godfrey fire officials have been discussing a county 911 system with the sheriff's staff, Illinois Bell Telephone and the Illinois Commerce Commission. Tentative plans call for a general meeting in January at the Madison County Fireman's Hall on Collinsville Road.

Godfrey Fire Chief Terry Ford cites problems now on "overlapping telephone prefixes and emergency jurisdictions that serve more than one prefix." In contrast, recent phone computerization has made possible automatic call forwarding from any phone to the appropriate jurisdiction.

Illinois Bell's Charlene Davis cites a "crazy-quilt pattern of law enforcement, fire and other emergency service jurisdictions. Selective routing overrides prefix problems, since each phone number in the county is studied and manually loaded into a master computer. The telephone knows in advance where it is to call."

It sounds good, but costs and other details will need to be reviewed before decisions can be made.

Wants new name for chamber

To the editor:

Recently this newspaper reported that the local Chamber of Commerce is conducting a membership drive to increase and enhance this area's business community. Although not a member, I am sure that the chamber is a valuable asset to the area it serves. One way this organization might increase its ranks, is by slight modification of its name. The initial impact of the term "Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce" implies an exclusion of two of the largest growth potential areas in our community, namely Patton Beach and Mitchell. As the interstate system is upgraded along our northern and eastern boundaries, development is certain to follow. The chamber should consider inclusion of its members by names as well as by effort.

As this newspaper recognizes a need to identify by name the communities it serves, so should the chamber.

Thanks Fields best man for Congress

To the editor:

This letter is being written to express my support for Pete Fields, a candidate for Congress in the 21st Congressional District.

I have known Pete the biggest part of my life and know him to be honest and forthright. He truly believes that our government should be a true representation of the people who created it. He has served two terms as auditor of Madison County and has earned a reputation that would be desired by any candidate for public office. Pete has worked hard at doing what he believes is right and just.

Being a product of a middle-class environment, Pete understands the needs of which most of us are aware. He is willing to work in Washington to satisfy these needs.

We need Pete Fields in Washington. We know what he has done here.

Objects to political questionnaire

To the editor:

I received an issues questionnaire from Congressman Melvin Price. I question whether the information is for Mel Price or Mike Mansfield. A couple of months ago I received a brochure from Congressman Price with a picture of him and his aid Mike Mansfield. I feel this was another questionable mailing.

On the issues questionnaire, I find it questionable that Mel Price wants to know about issues shortly before his retirement. I think it is quite obvious that Mr. Mansfield is using Mel Price's office as a springboard for his congressional campaign.

As a voter and taxpayer, I object to Mike Mansfield using mailing privileges that you and I are paying for. Mike Mansfield will be judged like every other congressional candidate on his qualifications not just the fact that he has attached himself to Mel Price. Voters should be aware of such devious tactics and I am surprised at Mel Price's office at promoting Mike's campaign while the taxpayers pay the bill.

Voters should also be aware of all the political endorsements of candidates. I, like most voters, will make up my own mind as to whom I feel will serve as the best congressman. I am particularly not interested in any politician's endorsement of a particular candidate. Politicians tend to endorse certain candidates because they are part of the "good old boys club." There are enough "good old boys" in Washington today, we need to elect someone who will represent the voters of this 21st Congressional District and not be beholden to any politician or their endorsement.

Letters policy

The Granite City Press-Record welcomes letters to the editor. The newspaper provides the "Letters" column to give readers an opportunity to voice opinions on various items of interest.

Letters should be brief. Typed letters, or letters that are neatly written are given priority treatment. Preference is also given to locally originated letters, but letters from outside the area are accepted.

Each letter must be signed and include the telephone number of the author. Authors may be called for verification purposes. Authors' names may be withheld on request, but the newspaper prefers to print names. There should be a clear reason given to the newspaper for why any name should not be used.

Letters are used as space permits in each of the three issues per week.

The Granite City Press-Record reserves the right to edit letters. Letters may be edited to conform with the newspaper's standards of style, punctuation, grammar and spelling. Long letters may be shortened. Letters containing libel will be edited to delete the libel, or not used. The letter's tone or intention will not be changed.

To participate, send your letters to: Letters to the editor, Granite City Press-Record, 1815 Delmar Ave., Granite City, IL 62040

Listen to what your body says

Listen to your body. Often your body knows what's good for you — and bad for you — better than your doctor can.

Our increasing understanding of nutrition, for example, proves that nobody can prescribe for everybody. We have different nutritional needs, different tolerances, different intonances.

"One man's meat is another man's poison." Listen to your body.

Our nation's exercise consciousness of recent years has misled many to overdo.

Aerobic leaders have admonished their classes, "No pain, no gain."

In other words, if you're not exercising sufficiently vigorously so that it hurts, it's not doing you any good.

That is untrue and dangerous. Dr. Kenneth Cooper of Dallas — first to popularize systematic exercise — says, "If you run more than three miles a day four times a week you do it for something other than fitness."

He and others — doctors and psychotherapists — see a growing number of "exercise addicts." Symptoms are unmistakable. They take and inflammatory drugs to mask serious injuries, sacrifice family life and jobs in the pursuit of impossible physical goals.

For The Wall Street Journal, Mary Charles recently discovered many people missing exercise the same way some overdose drugs, alcohol and food.

One medical writer suggests a warning label for jogging shoes.

The Journal got interested because many corporations, with the best of intentions, were providing health-club benefits — thus contributing to the obsession-addiction of the overdoers.

The Coors Wellness Center at Golden, Colo., began to notice some employees working out three times a day!

Listen to your body. Until last year ago I ran three miles a day four times a week on concrete. My knees began to complain. Fortunately, I stopped in time. Now I get the same cardiovascular benefit exercising with light weights and a stationary bicycle.

Exercise does afford a kind of "fix." Vigorous exercise, flushing the brain with fresh oxygen, does have a narcotic effect, does result in euphoria.

It's when we start thinking "the more the better" that we get in trouble.

Should the reduction of nuclear weapons be on summit agenda?

President Reagan and Soviet leader Gorbachev are involved in a summit meeting this week in Washington. Do you think the removal of U.S. nuclear weapons in Western Europe and Soviet weapons in Eastern Europe should be negotiated considering the roll our missiles play in the protection of our Western European allies?

Sam Mathews, Granite City

"I think the (Reagan) should do it, but Gorbachev won't go along with it. We're asking for too much of a reduction. And they're not talking about conventional weapons or troops (in the region)."

Ray Young, Granite City

"If they'd all do away with all of the nuclear weapons, we'd all be better off. But they'd coup-tries with nuclear weapons. All have to agree to it."

Dennis Cripps, Granite City

"Of course. Because I think it's time we had something to get rid of nuclear weapons, both short and long range."

Critical of soccer association choice

To the editor:

This letter is in response to the decision of the Quad City Soccer Association (QCSA) not to recognize "placing teams" in the 1987 season. Although the QCSA has met its main goal, to teach and instruct youths in the skills of soccer, it has unfortunately overlooked another more personal goal of the youths and parents, who through their dedication and hard work have helped to make the QCSA what it is today. This goal being recognition of accomplishment. People of all ages wish to be recognized for their achievements. We see this desire at all stages of life and the QCSA has failed the youths in this respect.

A nominal but annual fee is paid by each child playing for QCSA. During the past four years, I have seen and been involved in many improvements at the "soccer" complex—fences, shrubs, parking facilities, concession stand, restroom facilities, etc. We as parents, and coaches, have planted the shrubs, staffed the concession stand, filled balloons, worked barbecues, sold candy, tickets, and soda at area stores, banks, and our workplaces. All of this time volunteered to help the QCSA. Yes, I realize our children benefit through better playing fields and facilities. However, all the teams have worked hard and set goals for themselves, and I doubt you could find a player who doesn't desire to place at the end of the season. Yet, those teams who achieved first, second, or third place went unrecognized by the association they play and work for. At the beginning of the season, $500 was budgeted to purchase trophies for the placing teams, yet, all motions to do this were denied.

I can't count the times we've played in the cold, rain, and mud—times when we could have forfeited; yet, our team wanted to increase their chances of placing. However looking back, maybe we should have forfeited, for evidently placing means nothing to the QCSA. At least my son is an only child; hence, I'm spared the task of explaining why the association saw fit to give his brothers or sisters recognition when their teams placed. Through his coach, my son has learned how to accept winning and losing; he has learned the meaning of team effort; good sportsmanship and responsibility to his team. For these reasons and the fact he loves to play soccer, he will continue to play for the QCSA. However, our involvement in any fundraising or volunteer events will be kept to only what's mandatory. For why should I spend additional time and effort in promoting an association which fails to recognize the accomplishments of the youths they instruct. In my opinion, the Quad City Soccer Association has failed this season by putting itself before youth.

World effort may seal ozone leak

The scientific community for many years has been aware of a large loss of ozone in the Antarctic region, a loss that is especially dramatic during August, September and October.

There has been a great deal of speculation about the cause of the problem. A chief suspect has been the chlorofluorocarbons, also called freons. These are used in refrigeration and air-conditioning systems and also as blowing agents in the manufacture of foamed plastic and rubber items. Mankind is the only source of these compounds, so we have total control over their existence.

Some recent research work has shed some additional light on the mystery. During an eight-week study, researchers flew 25 flights over Antarctica. Readings were taken at heights of 10 to 12 miles, the location of the ozone layer in this part of the world.

Relatively large concentrasurface on which reactions take place. Further analysis of the data is needed in order to verify any conclusions. But at the moment, it looks as if chlorofluorocarbons are the chief agents for depleting the Antarctic ozone. These act as the source of the chlorine that reacts with the ozone.

Fortunately, most of the major industrial nations of the world have recently concluded an agreement to drastically lower their production of chlorofluorocarbons.

The latest research strongly indicates this is an essential step in the effort to prevent further ozone losses. Perhaps it will be necessary to totally eliminate the production of these compounds to help ensure that the ozone layer all over the world will remain intact and continue to protect the inhabitants of the earth from ultra-violet radiation from the sun.

tions of chlorine and chlorine monoxide were found. About 100 times as much of both of these were determined as would be found over Washington, D.C. on a normal day. They also were able to determine that as the chlorine monoxide concentration went down, the ozone concentration went down, indicating that chlorine monoxide was involved in the ozone depletion.

Weather conditions in the Antarctic spring are very cold, and the low temperature is involved in the chemistry of the ozone loss. Ice crystals may act as a

Advocates care, feeding of animals

To the editor:

I read the heartbreaking letter by Margaret Fisk and wish to comment on it. Why doesn't Granite City have or sell insurance on pets so when they need vet care, a normal person can pay the price?

Also, so that we could afford to neuter or spay all pets so we don't have 80 puppies and 80 kittens that we cannot feed.

We ran an ad for a cat and have had no takers yet. The cat was found on 23rd Street and Grand Avenue. He was very gentle, orange and white, approximately six months old, with a white flea collar on. My friend is still keeping him at her house, but we would like to find the owner.

Pets need love. Why have them outside day and night forever? They need shelter from the cold. On Missouri Avenue, I saw a puppy in the rain with only a chair to get under for shelter and that chair was no shelter because it was a steel chair with no sides to it.

So when the rain slanted, the dog got wet. I hope they take him into the house in the winter. I saw one dog whose owner covered his pen floor with rocks.

The dog could hardly walk because the rocks were painful to walk on.

Pets also need water, and when the water freezes, they need fresh water.

Presbyterian Women install

The December meeting of the Presbyterian Women of First Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, began with a pot luck dinner at noon.

The business meeting was called to order by President Burdine Holtzschler. The Rev. Richard Hunt gave a memorial for a deceased member, Mrs. Lillian Howe, who died in November.

He also installed the following state of officers for 1988: President Burdine Holtzschler; Vice President Florence Woodward;

Secretary Barbara Landis; Treasurer Ethel Beeler; Mission Interpretation—Ella Wade; Study, Virginia John; Involvement and Action, Gladys Fuhrman; and By-Laws, Arline Fox.

Lucille Schannott was in charge of the fellowship time. Games were played and prizes were won by Gladys Pape and Bess Henley.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Silent Night" and the Mizpah benediction.

Central Christian Church sets Cantata on Sunday

"The four Sundays in Advent are known as a movement from hope to peace, love and finally joy," stated The Rev. Dr. Manuel Tamayo, minister for Central Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), 2020 Johnson Road, as his congregation prepares to celebrate the first Sunday of Advent with the traditional "Hanging of the Green."

Advent services will take on a special significance for friends and members of the church this year with the participation of the newly formed Children's Choir in the annual Christmas cantata.

This year's cantata, "Unto Us a Son is Given," will be presented at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 13, and the public is invited. The Children's Choir, under the direction of Jean Tamayo and Nancy Connolly, is composed of third- to sixth-grade students. Children who will be participating are LeAnne Aerne, Katie Cooper, Casey Gaudette, Brad Graves, Drew Johnson, Jeremy Meyer, Brian Millsap, Jason Millsap and Beverly Valle. The cantata, under the direction of Joe Hanson, will feature solos by Laura Aerne, Lois Bilbrey, Tamayo, Madge Hanson and Jim Turley.

Prior to the cantata, all church members and friends will join in an annual "all-church" breakfast at 9:30 a.m., featuring homemade breads, doughnuts, sweet rolls and coffee cakes contributed by the church families.

Past members who have moved out of the church area are invited to join in the service. Present members who will be present on Sunday, to greet friends, renew acquaintance and participate in this special observance of the Advent season, the minister said.

Highlight of services Sunday, Dec. 20, will be the "Service of the Blessing of Little Children." That afternoon, Dr. and Mrs. Tamayo will hold a Christmas open house for the congregation between 2 and 4 p.m. Members will also attend a Christmas Eve service at the church at 7 p.m., and the community is invited.

Calvary hosts Thanksgiving dinner

Members of Calvary Baptist Church, 30th Street and Washington Avenue, were served a Thanksgiving dinner last week before regular services were held.

There were 93 present. After a piano prelude, the call to worship was given.

Earl Phelps gave the Thanksgiving prayer, and the Rev. Jeffery Davis gave a welcome and announcements, followed by a responsive reading.

Solos were sung by Carl Fisher, Dena Hall and Karla Terry, and a Thanksgiving message taken from Psalm 100, was given by Davis.

The closing hymn was "To God Be the Glory." Floyd Cruse gave the benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Green and family on Thanksgiving hosted Mr. and Mrs. Todd Brown, New Hampshire; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sullivan and Brandon, Warren, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeWiese, DeSoto, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moad, Lebanon, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Burns and children, Jamie, Larry and Laura, Pontotoc Beach; and Mr. and Mrs. George Lynn and daughter, Elana, Tucson, Ariz.

Betty Richardson, Washington, Mo., spent last Thursday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughn spent the Thanksgiving holiday with their daughter, Joan Rider, in Dorsey, Ill. Other guests were Jerry Vaughn and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Rider and son, Drew.

"M" (Mobilization) Night was held last week at the Calvary Baptist Church, with 267 in attendance.

Pre-session organ music, played by Jack Jones, was led by the Rev. Kevin Kerr. The invocation was given by the Rev. Bob Jones, and the welcome by the Rev. Jeff Davis.

"Hearing Impaired" was presented by Donna Belcher, Renee Carter, Ladonna Huie and Darrell Jacobs; "Women's Missionary Union" by Jean Corzine; "Master Life" by June Fisher; "Parenting by Grace," by Frank and Helen Grounds; "Choir Training" by Roger Wright; and "Reclaiming," by Chris Meeks and Tom White.

Stan Brown gave the award presentation. Special music was by the Second Baptist Church. The speaker for the evening was the Rev. Mack Haumschitt, and the benediction was given by Dale Clemens.

Stan Brown gave the awards presentation. Calvary Church was honored for high attendance and efficiency in large churches. Pontoon won awards in high attendance and efficiency in small churches and an award for highest (94 percent) in church family training study course, and West 22nd Street Baptist won an award for high attendance in small churches.

The theme for 1987-88 in church training is "Developing Believers," through total church family training.

Alicia Morelan marks birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis (Lynn) Morelan, 5229 Old Alton Road, hosted a dinner party Nov. 21 in honor of their daughter, Alicia's, first birthday. Hors d'oeuvres were served to the guests as they arrived for the 6 p.m. dinner.

A clown and bears theme was used to decorate the home, and a cake, baked by Mary Puelo, featured a carousel top, with juggling clowns supporting the top tier with their feet from a headstand position. Puelo also made a smaller version for the honoree, who's birthday is Nov. 24.

Present were the honoree's paternal grandparents, Roy and Thelma Morelan; her great-grandmother, Evelyn Stark; her godfather, Robert Carroll; and her godmother, Cynthia Scharf.

Also, Al and Mary Puelo; Debra Morelan and son, Tim; Steve and Diane Burnett and son, Joshua; Arnet and Sharon Morelan and son, Brian; Bryan Pinke, Kathy Matlock and daughter, Valerie; Frank Stroemer, Judy Carroll; Harry and Marilyn Deatherage; Laura Deatherage; John and Connie Bush and daughter, Ashley; Bill and Clea Dean; Jack and Betty Podner; and Laura Scarborough and daughter, Jessica.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron (Katy) Scholebo and son Jeff, of Franko Lane, were guests in the home of Mrs. Scholebo's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ron (Louise) Hall, 3507 Johnson

Road, for Thanksgiving Day dinner

Also present were Ralph and Marge Hall, the host's parents; Charles and Sherri Hall; Jody and Rhonda Fillion; Ellie Johnson; Hazel Lambert; and Grace Gilbert.

Lambert and Gilbert are Mrs. Scholebo's aunts. Gilbert resides in Palm Beach, Fla.

C.W. Martin, 617 Chouteau Ave., has returned from Miami, where he spent the Thanksgiving holidays with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne (Debbie) Bidstrup and daughter, Tracy. He is also interested in a new hobby, working with the giant Florida pine cones.

The Rev. Jimmy Dearman and his wife, Nancy, missionaries from Greenville, Miss., spoke at the evening services at the Mitchell Assembly of God Church, 910 W. Chain of Rocks Road, on Sunday. The Dearmans are on a fund-raising tour and are preparing to go to Quebec, Canada, to study French before taking their assignment in Africa.

The couple will go to Africa, where they will be stationed in a Nomadic region where the primary language is French with many dialects. Mrs. Dearman is a certified school teacher. Their purpose is to establish a mission and a school in an area crisscrossed by the Nomadic tribes.

Following services, about 30 parishners enjoyed a covered dish dinner in the fellowship hall.

The Rev. Herbert Wilson, pastor, announced the church will present a Christmas program at 7 p.m. Dec. 20. The public is welcome, he said.

Bill Lay, a native of Oregon, spoke to Mitchell School students Nov. 25 about nocturnal creatures of North America.

His presentation included an appearance by "Tootie" the screech owl, "Bandit" the racoon, "Flower" the skunk, and "Hooper" the great-horned owl. All four creatures are native to the United States, he said.

A tegu lizard and a boa constrictor snake from South America were also part of the demonstration.

The assembly was one of the 10 sponsored during the school year by the Mitchell PTA. This week's "Student of the Week" honors went to third-grade students Tonya Barton, Dennis Clark and Shannon Walsh.

Larry Rice to attend Venice event Friday

Leonard Morris, former KATZ radio personality and widely known gospel disc jockey, will be guest speaker at the recognition banquet for the Rev. Larry Rice and the New Life Evangelist Center to be held at 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11.

The Committee for the Homeless and Hungry is sponsoring the banquet at the Venice Recreation Center, 323 Broadway, Venice.

Rice will attend the event, said the Rev. John Henry Williams, committee chairman. The public is invited and tickets, costing $7, may be obtained by calling 452-5124 or 451-2483, he said.

Morris' career has spanned more than 30 years in gospel broadcasting, including a close association with persons in the spiritual entertainment world, Williams said.

For years, Leonard blessed this area with his inspirational shows and has proved to be one of the all-time gospel broadcasters in the metropolitan St. Louis region, Williams said.

Morris resides in Cahokia. Since retiring from radio, he now raises thoroughbred race horses.

Also appearing will be the Northend Trio, a vocal group consisting of Solatine Johnson, Dorothy Briggs and Wilma Cannon. Guest soloist will be Earl Glasper of the Southern Tabernacle Church.

Installation of Bethel 43

Bethel 43, of the International Order of Job's Daughters, held its 120th installation of officers Nov. 28 at the Masonic Temple in Granite City, under the direction of retiring Bethel guardian Charlotte Root and retiring associate Bethel guardian Ralph Baker.

Officers installed were: Vickie Becker, honored queen; Keri Smith, senior princess; Cary Miller, junior princess; Carmen Tamayo, guide; Cori Elmore, marshal; Jennifer Edwards, treasurer; Lavonia Luesmo, first messenger; Tanya McWilliams, second messenger.

Crystal McWilliams, third messenger; Heidi Koenig, fourth messenger; Kristi Holsinger, fifth messenger; April Marsh, senior custodian; Amy Kenburg, junior custodian; Melissa Lynch, inner guard; and Kori Ryland, outer guard.

Chaplain Christy Dawson, librarian Tracy Rich, recorder Melanie Paschedag and musician Sheri Pickett will be installed at a later date.

Christy Dawson, junior past honored queen, was the installing officer. Melanie Paschedag, past honored queen, was mistress of ceremonies.

Assisting in the installation were installing officers Paula Bills, guide; Lisa Gibbons, marshal; Michelle Hartline, senior custodian; Lana Hall, junior custodian; Gail Miller, recorder; Lea Ann Baker, chaplain; Rhonda Altenberger, flag bearer; Harlon Keel, musician; and Ron Sparks, soloist.

Ed Lane gave the ode to the American flag, and Christy Holsinger gave the ode to the Bethel flag. Candlelighters were Keri Smith and Cary Miller. Also taking part in the ceremony were Jennifer and Ronnie Offit, Jimmy Singler and Betty Paschedag. Ann Ribbing attended the guest book, and Diane Becker and Michele Singler presented programs.

Becker was escorted by Robert Becker. Her guests of honor for the evening were her grandmother, Michel Scone, and her mother, Norma Becker.

A new Bethel guardian and associate Bethel guardian were installed by Becky Slate, past Bethel guardian. Kathleen Offit was installed as guardian, and Dale O'Beir was installed as associate guardian.

Retiring Bethel guardian Charlotte Root, escorted by her daughter, Michelle Hartline, and retiring associate Bethel guardian Ralph Baker, escorted by his daughters, Rhonda Altenberger and Lea Ann Baker, were presented with their jewels, and a gift from the members.

James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, presented the 9 o'clock interlode, followed by the Job's Daughters retiring march and benediction by Harold Sparks.

A reception and dance were held immediately after the installation in the dining hall.

"I didn't get the return I hoped for on my IRA, so I'm turning to Magna."

"No matter if I choose their fixed or variable rate IRA, I know my principal is protected and fully insured."

"They even have a self-directed IRA where I have personal and complete control over all of my investments."

"Plus, they've got a booklet that explains tax reform and all about their IRAs. They helped me see it's still one of the best ways to invest for my retirement."

At Magna, we're on your side.

With the recent stock market events, you may be rethinking how you want to invest for your retirement. Magna offers no-risk variable and fixed rate IRAs that may actually yield more than many high-risk investments in the long run.

Your investment is totally protected by the FDIC, for up to $100,000 on each account, you get all of your principal back and in the case of the fixed rate IRA, a guaranteed return.

Of course, if you prefer, we also offer a self-directed plan that lets you decide where you want to invest your money: stocks, bonds, mutual funds, Ginnie Maes and more. Our self-directed IRAs are offered through the Trust Department at Magna/First Granite City National Bank.

Our Magna IRA experts are well trained and experienced in the new tax laws and in all of your IRA options. They can also show you why an IRA is still one of the best investments you can make. Give us a call or write for our special IRA question and answer booklet.

Regardless of whether you want the security of guaranteed interest or the option to make your own decisions... at Magna, we're on your side.

Medicare rates to rise

The amount a Medicare patient is responsible for when getting hospital insurance services will increase to $640 in 1988, Oliver Holmes, Social Security manager in East St. Louis, reports. The 1987 deductible is $200.

Also scheduled to increase are the per-day amounts patients are responsible for, Holmes said.

After 60 days of inpatient care in a benefit period in 1988, Medicare will pay for all covered services except $155 a day. The 1987 figure is $130.

For each reserve day, Medicare will pay for all covered services except $270 a day. The 1987 figure is $260.

After 20 days of care in a skilled nursing facility, Medicare will pay all covered services except $67.50 a day. The 1987 figure is $65.

The basic monthly premium for Medicare medical insurance will be $24.80. The 1987 basic premium is $17.90.

The monthly premium for hospital insurance for those people not otherwise eligible for this protection will be $234 in 1988. The 1987 premium is $226.

Study on death rates in hospitals criticized

By David Rocks
P-R/U Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — A federal study on death rates at the nation's hospitals to be released in December has already drawn sharp criticism from health care professionals nationwide.

The study, conducted by the Health Care Financing Administration, comparing mortality rates of Medicare patients at the more than 6,000 hospitals that participate in Medicare, could give misleading information to the public, some health officials say.

"There are so many individual situations in a hospital that have to do with the death of a patient, that this data isn't a good measure of the quality of health care," said Jill Egan, vice president of insurance for the Illinois Hospital Association.

HCA officials said that while their study may have some problems, it will prompt prospective patients to ask some tough questions before deciding to enter a particular hospital.

"We know that what we've got is not a perfect measure," said Thomas Morford, director of health statistics and quality at HCA. "It will not be the kind of thing where you look at the mortality here, and see it is higher there, and say I better go here."

The study by HCA, the agency that administers Medicare and Medicaid, will look at the number of Medicare patients who die within 30 days of their last admission to the hospital.

The study will compare the figures overall and for 16 different disease categories.

HCA officials would not give a preliminary indication of the results of the survey, but the vast majority of hospitals are expected to have mortality rates near the national average.

But most hospital officials contacted this week say the study will do more harm than good, alarming patients without really explaining how to interpret the data.

"Hospitals in general feel that it's rather an unsophisticated use of broad data," said William Dunn, president of St. Joseph's Hospital in Alton, Dunn, who said St. Joseph's "fell in the middle of just about every category," said the study could cause "finger pointing" and scare some patients away from hospitals.

Bill Kessler, executive director of St. Anthony's Hospital in Alton, said he would give people the idea that hospitals can be ranked, like football teams or horses, and that the utility of the numbers when the public is going to try to evaluate the quality of health care in an area, Kessler said. "We did fine, but our objection is to the method of the study. In this day and age when everybody wants to compare and contrast things, these statistics are not comparable."

Morford said the intention is not to rank hospitals, but rather to get people to discuss the figures with their doctors and ask questions about the quality of care at a given hospital.

In addition, Morford said, the hospitals are given the chance to respond to the data with written comments that will be included in the study. The figures were sent to the hospitals for comment last month.

"If I were a consumer I would look at the statistics, I would look at what the hospitals said, I would ask my doctor what you think about this?" Morford said. "It might call the state hospital association. I might ask what are the reasons for varying mortality."

Morford also noted that there will be no ranking of hospitals in the study. The hospitals in each state will be listed alphabetically, not according to their mortality rates.

But Dunn said that while the study does not actually rank the hospitals, and allows them to comment on the data, most people will remember only the hard numbers, and will be inclined to rank the hospitals in their mind.

"I think a great disservice has been done," Dunn said. "The reader is left with a negative first impression. I think a great disservice has been done."

Morford said HCA is trying to improve the survey — especially by including some sort of indicator of the health of a patient before entering the hospital.

Already the study is better than a similar survey last year, in which some hospitals had an excessively high or low mortality rates were listed, Morford said. This year, with comments from the hospitals, as well as increased efforts by the agency to alert the press and the public about the proper interpretation of the data, the survey should be a better indicator of the quality of care offered by a hospital, he said.

"It's the first major step in the long journey to start this process," of finding a measure of health-care quality, Morford said. "It's not a direct measure of quality. It reflects one measure of quality."

While hospital officials all say the study is a vast improvement over last year's, they still say it is not good enough. They agree the data is interesting to hospital administrators, but they question the value of releasing the data to the public.

Kessler said the hospital already goes "through an arduous process to review the quality of our care," and that two watchdog groups already monitor hospitals — the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Health Care Organizations and the federal peer review organization.

Dunn said the addition of an indicator of the severity of a patient's illness could improve the study, but he remained skeptical of this year's survey.

"If they find a way that they could weight it, so that the numbers could be compared," the study might be acceptable, Dunn said. But he added, "This survey is a head-scratcher. The tactics doesn't help anybody."

Resolution 87-10 to work toward more access to public health nursing services through the Illinois Department of Public Health and the boards of higher education.

Resolution 87-11 to approve the Nursing Research Commission to investigate and seek foundation status to secure additional funding for efforts being undertaken by ANA in Washington.

Resolutions 87-4, 87-5, and 87-6 on the commitment of nursing to care for AIDS patients, that RNs and other health care providers be knowledgeable of the patient's diagnosis, that education programs for the public on AIDS be provided, that INA oppose discriminatory testing and discrimination of groups and individuals with AIDS.

Resolution 87-7 supporting INA's endorsement of articulation between RN entry programs and BSN completion/generic programs.

Resolution 87-9 supporting INA activities to recruit into nursing. With the nurse shortage the resolution seeks to provide information on nursing at all levels of education to help with career choice.

Resolution 87-12 to act legislatively to secure the implementation of the Comprehensive Health Insurance Program that was legislated in 1986 but not yet implemented and to expand services in the psychiatric, preventive, and restorative care areas. Statistics provided included 14,400 people in Illinois denied insurance coverage in 1982 with 22 percent of Illinois personal bankruptcy judgments due to the effects of medical costs.

Resolution 87-13 to support improving and access to the various post hospital health care services for the aged; Medicare eligibility criteria for home health services are still too restrictive for many chronically ill in the community.

Resolution 87-15 that INA express opposition to sex specific fetal protection policies in work settings and affirm its belief that the workplace must be safe for all workers and their offspring.

In addition to the House of Delegates actions, continuing education programs were provided and an awards luncheon was held honoring nurses and legislators.

Goals for nurse association given

By Dorothy Stratman-Lucey
ANA board member

The Illinois Nurses Association convention was held at the McCormick Center in Chicago Nov. 12-14. The 1988-1991 strategic plan was adopted. Goals enunciated in the plan are:

- Goal I: To advance the scope of nursing practice in Illinois and protect the integrity of the profession.
- Goal II: To promote, protect and advance all nurses in their employment settings.
- Goal III: To increase the organizational strength of INA.
- Goal IV: To amplify INA's political power.
- Goal V: To promote recruitment into nursing.
- Goal VI: To increase the consumer's understanding of the significance of nursing and the health care services provided by nurses.
- Goal VII: To advocate accessible quality health care.
- Goal VIII: To promote quality continuing education for nurses.

By-laws changes supported the transformation of the Peer Assistance Network for Nurses Committee to foundation status. PANN assist a nurse with drug or alcohol problems.

The district presidents' informal forum was established in the by-laws as a formal structure within INA to ensure more grassroots district input. The remainder of by-laws changes were structural primarily passed to comply with the by-laws changes of the American Nurses Association (ANA).

The resolutions passed by the House of Delegates were substantive.

Resolution 87-1: to increase membership recruitment through local unit organizations.

Resolution 87-3 to provide RN staff 24 hours a day in long-term care facilities. Presently one RN needs to be present for one eight-hour shift in some nursing home settings. This supports the legislative efforts being undertaken by ANA in Washington.

Resolutions 87-4, 87-5, and 87-6 on the commitment of nursing to care for AIDS patients, that RNs and other health care providers be knowledgeable of the patient's diagnosis, that education programs for the public on AIDS be provided, that INA oppose discriminatory testing and discrimination of groups and individuals with AIDS.

Resolution 87-7 supporting INA's endorsement of articulation between RN entry programs and BSN completion/generic programs.

Resolution 87-9 supporting INA activities to recruit into nursing. With the nurse shortage the resolution seeks to provide information on nursing at all levels of education to help with career choice.

Resolution 87-10 to work toward more access to public health nursing services through the Illinois Department of Public Health and the boards of higher education.

Resolution 87-11 to approve the Nursing Research Commission to investigate and seek foundation status to secure additional funding for efforts being undertaken by ANA in Washington.

Resolution 87-12 to act legislatively to secure the implementation of the Comprehensive Health Insurance Program that was legislated in 1986 but not yet implemented and to expand services in the psychiatric, preventive, and restorative care areas. Statistics provided included 14,400 people in Illinois denied insurance coverage in 1982 with 22 percent of Illinois personal bankruptcy judgments due to the effects of medical costs.

Resolution 87-13 to support improving and access to the various post hospital health care services for the aged; Medicare eligibility criteria for home health services are still too restrictive for many chronically ill in the community.

Resolution 87-15 that INA express opposition to sex specific fetal protection policies in work settings and affirm its belief that the workplace must be safe for all workers and their offspring.

In addition to the House of Delegates actions, continuing education programs were provided and an awards luncheon was held honoring nurses and legislators.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes a person involved in an automobile accident will be issued a traffic citation at the accident scene. In many cases, that driver does not feel his was at fault in the accident. The question then arises as to whether the driver should fight the charge in court or plead guilty and pay a small fine.

If the person in the other vehicle (the plaintiff) was injured in the accident, the driver who received the traffic ticket (the defendant) may want to take this into consideration when deciding what course of action to follow. If the defendant pleads guilty to the minor traffic charge, this guilty plea can be used against him to establish liability in a subsequent civil action brought by the injured plaintiff. A plea of guilty is viewed as a judicial admission. Since by admitting guilt the defendant is admitting the facts underlying the charge, this is admissible in a subsequent civil proceeding.

If he goes to trial and is convicted on the traffic charge, however, this conviction is not admissible in a later civil proceeding. The courts have held that a conviction of a traffic offense after a trial does not have the necessary reliability to be used in a subsequent civil action. This is because a traffic court conviction often results from considerations of expediency and convenience, constitutional safeguards are often not vigorously applied, and a defendant's opportunity or motive to fully defend himself is often lacking.

In one recent case, a driver (the defendant) entered an intersection on what he claimed was a green light. His truck was struck by a car coming from the opposite way. The defendant was issued a ticket for failure to yield the right of way. The plaintiff claimed at the accident scene that he was injured as a result of the collision. If the defendant pled guilty to the traffic charge, this guilty plea could be used against him to establish liability in a later personal injury suit.

Therefore, in this situation it would probably be advisable for the defendant to seek a trial on the traffic charge. Even if he were found guilty in traffic court, it still could not be used against him in a later personal injury suit.

A white Christmas can cause blues

Not everyone feels the holidays are happy times. Instead of merry, the holidays are melancholy for many people.

Marjorie Baier, an instructor in the School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said that feelings of anxiety, desolation and misery may be the result of many things.

She said the holiday blues may be caused by people having unreasonable expectations, older persons trying to relieve happier moments, children under strain from holiday build-up of tension and exhaustion, teenagers coping with growing pains, and frantic shopping expeditions by almost everyone in the family.

Some people are troubled because they feel that "everyone is having fun but me," suffering the feeling of loneliness that goes with having no plans for the holidays, no companions to share them with, and perhaps no job, as well as suffering from the memory of other holidays which were miserable.

One important thing for these people to realize is that they are not alone.

"They think they are the only sad people in the world, during a time when they are supposed to be happy," Baier said. "That isn't true. There are many people who are unhappy during the holiday season."

She said these people should plan activities which will make them happy by doing things for themselves or for others.

"If the holidays make them feel depressed, they should think about what they like to do the least. Then stop doing it," Baier said.

It may mean changing the way one spends the holidays, either with closer or less contact with others. Many people think they want to be alone at Christmas, then change their minds as the holiday nears.

"Even if one feels like being alone at the beginning of December, it is important to anticipate that the emphasis of the holiday season is highly social and one's feelings are likely to change by Christmas," she said.

One way to reduce the feeling of anxiety is by careful planning.

"Planning ahead for meals and baking and freezing food allows a person to begin holiday preparation early and also reduces stress if special holiday foods are important to them," Baier said.

Other ways families can cut down on stressful situations is to anticipate and seek to avoid possible family conflicts, reminisce at appropriate times, and maintain a consistent schedule for the children.

In addition, it is important for family members to discuss who will be responsible for various chores that go along with festivities and fun.

GC parks offering women's volleyball

The Granite City Park District is offering a Women's Volleyball League with games to be played at Lincoln Place Community Center on Wednesday nights.

The entry fee is $25 per team with a $25.00 registration fee for non-residents. Entry fees will be accepted until Dec. 21. All players must be turned in by Dec. 29 with league play beginning Jan. 6. Players competing in the Park District Co-Ed League are eligible to play in the Women's League.

For more information, call the Wilson Park office at 977-3059.

Open basketball offered by park

The Granite City Park District offers open play basketball at Lincoln Place Community Center on Saturdays from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Players must bring their own basketball and wear proper basketball shoes.

Open play basketball is also offered at the Lincoln Place Community Center on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Proof of residency is not required for these sessions.

For further information, contact the Wilson Park Office at 977-3059.

League champs

Weight training being held at GCHS

Warrior football coach Ron Yates has announced that winter football players not involved in winter sports are invited to attend.

The sessions are from 3:30-4:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays in the weight room. The program started on Dec. 1.

floor. By the time the Trojan defense let in a basket, they had raced to a 21-8 lead.
The Trojans installed the death grip on McKinley as they continued to force turnovers, race down the floor and get the easy two. Midway through the third quarter, Sanders' three-point field goal stretched the lead to 48-28.
Madison then cruised, ahead to the checkered flag. "They're tough to beat," Cook said. "They are very quick."

Tickets available for Mizou-Illini

Goodbye? Big Red to meet drama of 'finale'

By Ed Kamen
Journal Staff Writer

The football Cardinals game Sunday against the New York Giants is significant because:

- The Big Red (5-7) still have a slim chance to make the playoffs.
- They are hosting the defending Super Bowl champions.
- It is the last home game of the season.
- It is expected to be the last home game in the 28 years the team has been in St. Louis.
- All of the above.

The answer is e, but it is the reason the game is expected to draw the largest home crowd of the season. However, on Tuesday more than 20,000 tickets were still available for the game—an indication that not all of St. Louis is wishing to wave goodbye.

"We not going to mention (that it may be the final professional football game ever in St. Louis) to the players," said Cardinals coach Gene Stallings. "It's not for certain."

Stallings is trying to keep the playoffs and the Giants on top of his list of concerns.

"I don't want the fact that we may be leaving to be the reason we have a big crowd or why we play well. I hope we do anyway," he said.

If the Big Red had a better record and the Giants were playing like they did last season, Sunday's game would mean a lot more than just keeping the Cardinals statistically alive for post-season play.

However, the Giants (4-8) are without quarterback Phil Simms, but more importantly, are without the fire that led them to the NFL championship last year.

New York coach Bill Parcells has called the 1987 season "a nightmare" and said it is "just what this organization didn't want to have happen."

But it did, and the Cardinals are hoping to capitalize on the situation.

"Of course, they're not the same team they were a year ago," Stallings said, "but most of their people are the same and they are good, talented people."

"It's going to take a strong effort (from the Big Red) to win Sunday."

Despite the Cardinals' second-half collapse last week against Washington, strong efforts from running back Stump Mitchell, returned defensive end David Galloway, receivers Troy Johnson and J.T. Smith and, again, quarterback Neil Lomax, has the coaching staff optimistic heading into the final three games of the season.

"The mistakes really cost us (last week), but if we do the things we do well for the whole ball game, then we'll be in good shape," Stallings said. "I just hope we play well. I'd hate to be part of the last (home game), if that happens to be the case, if they didn't perform well."

A victory by the Minnesota Vikings (7-5) in any of their last three games would eliminate the Big Red from post-season play, but even the slim hope of making the playoffs has given the Cardinals an opportunity to be distracted from the drama of what could be their final game in St. Louis.

Cardinals lineman Rod Saddler and other Big Red players may wave goodbye Sunday to St. Louis fans.

Herbie Pressure no longer on Blues' Raglan

By Tom Lange
Journal Correspondent

When the Blues traded Mark Reeds earlier this season, heads turned. Reeds, after all, had been the Blues' top right winger on their checking line for the past several years.

But the play of Herb Raglan, in his second full National Hockey League season at the age 20, forced the Blues' hand.

"Herbie's play forced us to find a position for him," Blues coach Jacques Martin said. "Earlier this season (Raglan) was our best defensive forward, and he's played well since coming back (from a strained knee), too."

After playing only seven regular season games during the 1986-87 season and spending some time with Kingston in junior hockey, Raglan spent all of last season with the Blues.

"I felt a lot of pressure last year because when you only get three or four shifts a game, you feel like every shift is crucial and you want to do something positive for the hockey club," Raglan said. "This year I'm a lot more relaxed."

At the end of last season, Martin said Raglan has given a better idea of what was expected of him in order to play for the Blues.

He set the tempo right away in training camp by showing that he was going to hit some people and work the puck out of the corners," Martin said. "He's been playing well."

"He's not going to get a lot of playing time for his finesse. He's going to get time for his aggressiveness, his toughness and his ability to do the job defensively."

Raglan might have a slight edge on some others his age when it comes to playing in the NHL. His father, Clare, played professionally with Chicago and Detroit.

"One of the first things they want you to learn when you come to the NHL is how to play defensively," Raglan said. "I learned some of the defensive aspects of the game from my father, and that's paying dividends for me now since I knew what was expected of me."

A strained knee put Raglan on the shelf for six games in November, but upon his return Nov. 21, he scored four goals in his first three games.

"I was fortunate enough to be put on the line with Bernie (Federko) and when you play with him you have to go, go, go," Raglan said. "You have to force the other guy and try to get the puck on Bernie's stick."

Now, however, Martin is trying to keep the checking line of Raglan, Rick Meagher and Gino Cavallini intact as often as possible.

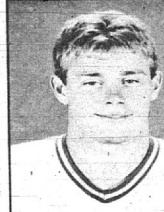

"When I'm on Ricky Meagher's line, our No. 1 priority is to play defense, and if we score any goals it's a bonus," Raglan said. "But you like to get your points."

While his role now is primarily one of a defensive forward, Raglan is still striving to improve his offensive skills.

"A lot of guys have made careers out of being defensive specialists, and that's the role they want me to play here right now," Raglan said. "I'm happy to do it, but I want to work on my offensive skills and try to be more of a complete player."

NOTES: After hosting the Pittsburgh Penguins, featuring Mario Lemieux and Paul Coffey, Saturday night, the Blues leave on a four-game road trip to the East Coast. They play Dec. 15 at the New York Islanders, Dec. 17 at Hartford, Dec. 19 at Boston and Dec. 20 at Washington.

Team USA plays the Soviet Union at 7:35 p.m. Dec. 15 at the Arena in a pre-Olympic exhibition.

Steamers 'turn loose' play-maker Gray

By Dan Caesar
Journal Staff Writer

It is transition time for Gerry Gray. And he's making the move with ease of a Baryshnikov routine.

Gray, whom the Steamers purchased last summer from Tacoma, has assumed a play-making role with the team and, prior to Wednesday's game against Minnesota, had helped the Steamers to a 5-6 start. The Steamers are not exactly tearing up the league, but they have shown signs of more offensive spark.

Through the first 11 games, Gray had tallied three goals and three assists. His value goes beyond the pure statistics, however.

"If you gave two assists for a goal, like they do in hockey, he would have an awful lot," Steamers coach Tony Glavin said. "He's a very good passer of the ball, good on the ball and good at controlling the tempo of the game. He can slow the game down when it needs to be slowed down, and that's something that is hard to find."

It is a role Gray has been accustomed to for a long time.

"I don't mind that at all," he said of the play-making role. "That's been my position since I was a kid, when I first started playing soccer. I go back and forth. It's what got me here."

And it is what will keep him in the MISL, where he is playing in his fifth season. If he is looking for a new career when he retires, he might want to become a mover—he's had plenty of experience in that field, too.

He started with Golden Bay, moved to Chicago when the Earthquakes folded and then was traded to Tacoma, where he spent one season before heading to St. Louis. He has even had transatlantic moving experience. Gray was born in 1961 in Glasgow, Scotland, but moved to Toronto in 1973. He also has played for Vancouver in the North American Soccer League.

Now Gray is trying to settle in with the Steamers, who meet Chicago at 7:35 p.m. tonight at The Arena. But despite all the moves, he said he was not at all adverse to leaving Tacoma, which came within one game of winning the MISL title last season, and coming to the Steamers, who had just experienced the worst year in their history.

"I was delighted to come," he said. "I was very impressed with the way Tony had taken over and the work ethic (he) instilled. There have been a lot of changes here, and we have a lot to prove to ourselves."

Now that he has had a dozen games with his new teammates, he is finding things are becoming easier. And it does not hurt that the Steamers have one of the strongest midfields in the MISL, with John Bain, Darryl Doran and Gray.

They have so much midfield depth, in fact, that they were able to trade speedy midfielder Charlie Falcon last week to Tacoma as part of a deal for forward Godfrey Ingram.

Gray has averaged 30 assists a season for the last three years, and racked up 40 in 1984-85 despite playing in just 24 games before suffering a broken leg in a game at the Arena. The Steamers never have had a player net more than 31 assists.

"I've given him a free role on the field," Glavin said. "He's pretty much on his own. He's not playing the attacking midfield role—his job is to make things happen. There aren't many players you can turn loose like that."
